Red Narcotics Being Used To Weaken World

Congress Told Flood Of Dope Is Pushed By China Regime

WASHINGTON, March 4 (AP)—Red China was described in congressional testimony made public today as trying to weaken the free world with a flood of narcotics.

H. J. Anslinger, narcotics commissioner, was the witness. He said the Chinese Communists push narcotics sales to obtain money for war materials and at the same time to "spread the debauchery of narcotic addiction among the free nations."

Anslinger testified during hearings before the House Appropriations Committee on the treasury's 1956 budget.

Seek U. S. Dollars

He said he has documented proof of "an insidious, calculated scheme" by the Chinese Reds to obtain U. S. dollars and other foreign currencies "and at the same time to demoralize the people of the free world."

"Spreading narcotic addiction and obtaining funds for political purposes through the sale of heroin and opium is not just the policy of one man in the Communist regime," Anslinger said, "it is the policy of the entire Communist regime in mainland China."

Communists themselves are forbidden to use narcotics, he said, and small time dealers who dare reveal the identity of the supplying group lose their ears.

Watch Smuggling Rises

In other phases of the treasury operations it was shown that:

1. Tax collectors have discovered one U. S. citizen living abroad who is worth between 150 and 200 million dollars but apparently has never filed a tax return. As a result of this and other cases, the Internal Revenue Service is assigning more agents to the 500,000 American citizens living in other parts of the world.

2. The smuggling of Swiss watches into this country now ranks with narcotics and diamonds as a major headache of the Customs Bureau.

Rep. Sieminski (D-N.J.) suggested during the hearings that the United States should "mothball" a reserve of printing presses to turn out currency in case present facilities were knocked out by an enemy attack.

Sun Finally Shines Through London Fog

LONDON, March 4 (AP)—There was sunshine in London today and newspapers erupted the big fat headlines to herald the news.

"It's wonderful to open the windows," cried the Evening News. There was a hint of sunshine through the fog yesterday, but today a man could walk down the street and throw a shadow. It was Londoners' first good look at the sun since Feb. 13.

UN Council Urges Calm In Egypt Dispute

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. Mar. 4 (AP)—The U. N. Security Council today strongly urged Israel and Egypt to maintain calm and refrain from more fighting along their tension-filled border.

The Council's feeling was summed up by its president, Selim Sarper, Turkish delegate, at the end of a 90-minute meeting during which several members denounced the Gaza incident of last Monday night. James J. Wadsworth, United States delegate, called it "shocking" and "indefensible from any standpoint."

The delegates held up further debate on the Gaza case until Maj. Gen. Edson L. M. Burns, U. N. truce chief in Palestine, can rush to U. N. headquarters to make a personal report or, if he is held in Palestine by grave events, a full report can be received here.

It was apparent despite the diplomatic talk that the members were shocked by the Gaza fighting which cost 39 Egyptian and 8 Israeli lives. While they did not say so specifically, the attitude of most of the delegates showed that, on the basis of preliminary reports, they held Israel responsible.

The keynote was sounded by Wadsworth who said that for almost a year a general improvement in the maintenance of stability and quiet on the borders between Israel and the Arab states had prevailed.

"This in turn led us to hope that all the parties concerned had recognized that this was the fruit of restraint and of sincere effort at understanding," Wadsworth said. "If the border situation has improved to the extent that I have indicated—the official report should make this clear—then resort to force is all the more to be deplored."

"In all of our experience in the Council with the Palestine question, one thing has remained clear: it is that the use of armed force will not produce peace negotiations."

Henri Hoppenot, France, praised Egypt for showing restraint and said that a policy of force is never warranted, even in the form of reprisals.

Petrillo Asks UN Orchestra Be Formed

CHICAGO, March 4 (AP)—James C. Petrillo today came up with a solution for ending what he called the "sour notes now often heard in the United Nations."

The president of the AFL American Federation of Musicians wants President Eisenhower to help set up a U. N. orchestra with at least one musician from each member nation.

"That symphony alone would speak a universal language," said Petrillo.

Potash Leaves For Red Poland

NEW YORK, March 4 (AP)—Irving Potash, one of the nation's 11 convicted top Communist leaders, sailed for Red Poland today, rather than risk further imprisonment here.

He was the highest-ranking American Red to head for the Iron Curtain since Gerhard Eisler jumped bail and stowed away on the liner Saxonia.

His wife, Gita, a daughter, and a granddaughter were among a knot of well-wishers who saw him off.

Actually, Potash left voluntarily with government consent to avoid trial on charges of knowingly belonging to a party that advocates violent revolution. Conviction carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and Potash just completed a five-year term for subversion last December.

At the meeting, the board repeated a standing offer that employees may apply to return to their jobs and be passed on individually, even though 30 new persons have been hired. The board considered the employees broke their contracts when they struck and failed to return by a deadline yesterday.

R. H. Copeland, who represented the dissident group at the session, said the board would not listen to a list of "intolerable working conditions" capped by Beard's discharge Feb. 18. He predicted "few, if any" employees will return until the complaints are considered.

Meanwhile, children ran and played on school grounds and you could hardly tell anything was amiss.

Parents and other volunteers, plus replacement and substitute teachers, filled in for absentee personnel, and not a day of school has been missed. Attendance is near normal.

Veteran Leaves Hospital

The sole surviving member of the Grand Army of the Republic and a Civil War drummer boy, Albert Woolson, 108, was greeted yesterday by his granddaughter, Frances Ann Kobus, 5, when he left a Duluth, Minn., hospital after a week-long treatment for lung congestion. He said he felt "fine."

Red Gunboats Attack Island Among Matsus

TAIPEI, Formosa, Saturday, March 5 (AP)—There was speculation in press circles today that the Nationalists might be abandoning some or all of the Matsus, island outposts extending within three and a half miles of the Red China mainland off the port of Foochow.

The speculation was entirely unofficial and, of course, without public confirmation. Security considerations presumably would preclude public disclosure even if such was true.

The speculation was stirred by reports yesterday of a Red gunboat attack on Kaoteng, an island in the group so close to the mainland that it could almost be blown out of the water by Red land guns if they chose.

Attention was further focused on the Matsus, and the offshore island situation as a whole, by a high level conference of U. S. and Nationalist defense officials in Taipei.

The Nationalists claimed they repelled an attack on Kaoteng yesterday by 40 Red gunboats and motorized junks—vessels which very well could have been a service school cadets from $989 to $1,333 a year.

Chairman Murray (D-Tenn.) said the Post Office Committee will begin hearings week after next on raises for 1,200,000 civil service workers. He indicated the 7½ per cent average increase for postal workers will set the pattern.

The Senate Post Office Committee already has voted 10 per cent increases for both postal and civil service employees.

The House committee approved Postmaster General Summerfield's request for authority to reclassify and streamline job and salary groups within the department.

The bill provides a general 6 per cent increase for those living on retirement pay, and also increases service school cadets from $989 to $1,333 a year.

Sole Survivor Of Union Army Leaves Hospital

DULUTH, Minn., March 4 (AP)—Albert Woolson, 108, sole survivor of the Union Army, was released from a Duluth hospital today and returned home fully recovered from a lung congestion.

"I'm feeling fine," he said. "Hospitals are marvelous things to have when you need them," the Civil War veteran told his daughter and her family. "But it's great to be home again."

Woolson didn't lie down when he returned to the house. He said he didn't feel tired. He visited with the family, drank coffee and smoked a cigar.

Scientist Says He's Russian Citizen Now

MOSCOW, March 4 (AP)—Prof. Bruno Pontecorvo told the world today he is now a devoted Soviet citizen having nothing to do at present with the field of atomic energy for military purposes.

The dark-haired Italian-born atomic scientist appeared at a news conference, which is a rare thing in Moscow, for an hour and 40 minutes talked and answered questions. Seventy-five newsmen from both Communist and non-Communist countries were on hand.

Once a key man at Britain's top secret Harwell Atomic Research Station, Pontecorvo made these main points:

1. He became a Soviet citizen in 1952. He is living with his family in a Moscow apartment. He also has a vacation place in the country. (When he vanished with his family while on a European vacation in September, 1950 he held British citizenship awarded him for his work in World War II. The British said Thursday they were considering revoking this.)

2. He has been working in Russia only on peaceful atomic projects, for which he was awarded a Stalin prize in 1952. This was the same line he took in his letter in Moscow newspapers Tuesday that disclosed he was in the Soviet Union.

3. He is convinced Soviet science and physics "hold the first place in the world." As for the international political picture: "how is it possible to believe that the Soviet Union threatens the United States while the American bases are situated near the Soviet Union?"

Collins Believed In Line For Top European Post

WASHINGTON, March 4 (AP)—Gen. J. Lawton Collins was reported today to be in line to succeed Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther as supreme Allied commander in Europe.

The unofficial service publication, the Army-Navy-Air Force Journal, predicted that Gruenther would be brought to the Pentagon in August or perhaps sooner to replace Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway as Army chief of staff.

The plan then would be to send Collins, former Army chief and a combat commander in Europe in World War II, to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization command.

Ridgway is due to retire in August. Collins' current regular job is American representative on the NATO military committee and the standing group, with headquarters in Washington. But he was given still another, temporary job by President Eisenhower several months ago as a "trouble shooter" in Indochina.

Armed Force Pay Raise Approved

House Group Okays Postal Hike Also

WASHINGTON, March 4 (AP)—Pay raises for the armed forces and postal service were approved today by House committees.

Increases of between 6 and 25 per cent for career servicemen were okayed unanimously by an Armed Services subcommittee.

The House is expected to adopt the measure, representing 735 million dollars in extra pay a year, next week.

The House Post Office Committee voted an average 7½ per cent increase for half a million Post Office employees, at an annual cost of 150 million dollars, the minimum increase is 6 per cent.

Provides 11.9 Per Cent Hike

The military pay raise bill, which President Eisenhower has termed essential to keep trained men in uniform, provides an average 11.9 per cent increase for two million servicemen.

Enlisted men with over two years' service and officers with more than three years' duty would get boosts of from $7.80 to $83.46 a month. In general, others are not affected because the bill is designed to provide more money for experienced men to stay in uniform.

The measure increases special monthly pay for hazardous air and submarine duty, establishes a new dislocation allowance of one month's basic pay for service families making a permanent change of station and ups the daily travel allowance from $9 to $12.

Chairman Kilday (D-Tex.) said the measure would be submitted Tuesday to the full committee and might reach the House floor Thursday.

Officers of second lieutenant grade with over three years' service would get $7.80 more a month, for a total of $98.80, and sergeants with over eight years' duty go up $26.99 to $202.80 monthly.

Privates with over two years' service would get $7.80 more a month, for a total of $98.80, and sergeants with over eight years' duty go up $26.99 to $202.80 monthly.

The bill provides a general 6 per cent increase for those living on retirement pay, and also increases service school cadets from $989 to $1,333 a year.

Petrillo Asks UN Orchestra Be Formed

CHICAGO, March 4 (AP)—James C. Petrillo today came up with a solution for ending what he called the "sour notes now often heard in the United Nations."

The president of the AFL American Federation of Musicians wants President Eisenhower to help set up a U. N. orchestra with at least one musician from each member nation.

"That symphony alone would speak a universal language," said Petrillo.

Teachers On Strike Request Mothers Help Close Schools

IRVING, Tex., March 4 (AP)—Striking teachers, fearing with the school board of this suburban community near Dallas, today asked mothers to keep their children away from schools now run by volunteers and substitutes.

A teacher committee called on a group of mothers to take their children out of schools and close them until the tow is over. There was no immediate reaction from the mothers.

This happened after quarreling trustees and teachers held their first meeting since an estimated

Veteran Leaves Hospital

The sole surviving member of the Grand Army of the Republic and a Civil War drummer boy, Albert Woolson, 108, was greeted yesterday by his granddaughter, Frances Ann Kobus, 5, when he left a Duluth, Minn., hospital after a week-long treatment for lung congestion. He said he felt "fine."

Red Gunboats Attack Island Among Matsus

TAIPEI, Formosa, Saturday, March 5 (AP)—There was speculation in press circles today that the Nationalists might be abandoning some or all of the Matsus, island outposts extending within three and a half miles of the Red China mainland off the port of Foochow.

The speculation was entirely unofficial and, of course, without public confirmation. Security considerations presumably would preclude public disclosure even if such was true.

The speculation was stirred by reports yesterday of a Red gunboat attack on Kaoteng, an island in the group so close to the mainland that it could almost be blown off of the water by Red land guns if they chose.

Attention was further focused on the Matsus, and the offshore island situation as a whole, by a high level conference of U. S. and Nationalist defense officials in Taipei.

The Nationalists claimed they repelled an attack on Kaoteng yesterday by 40 Red gunboats and motorized junks — vessels which very well could have been a supply convoy bound for Foochow which got off course in foggy weather.

If the Nationalists do quit the Matsus, it would not be too surprising. The Nationalist press has been full of assertions that neither the Matsus nor Quemoy, guarding the approaches to Amoy, would be abandoned without a fight.

This might be true of the estimated 40,000-man garrison on Quemoy. But insofar as the estimated 5,000-man garrison in the Matsus is concerned, the assertions are strongly reminiscent of those which preceded the pullout from Nanchishan and the Tachens. These pullouts were made 120 to 200 miles north of the Matsus.

Walt Whitman Diary Stolen From Exhibit

DETROIT, March 4 (AP)—A diary of the 19th century American poet Walt Whitman has been stolen from an exhibit case in the Detroit Public Library.

The theft was reported to police today by Ralph A. Ulveling, library director. He said the volume was worth more than $25,000 and was the most valuable single item in the library.

His wife, Gita, a daughter, and a granddaughter were among a knot of well-wishers who saw him off.

Actually, Potash left voluntarily with government consent to avoid trial on charges of knowingly belonging to a party that advocates violent revolution. Conviction carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and Potash just completed a five-year term for subversion last December.

Dulles Returning From Formosa Talks

HONOLULU, March 4 (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles arrived today from consultative talks in the Far East, saying, "I am still concerned about hostile intentions of the Chinese Communists."

Flying in from Formosa, Dulles told newsmen it would be "hard to judge" whether such hostile intentions had increased or lessened within the past 30 days.

Before leaving Formosa, Dulles warned Red China that in event of an attack on that Nationalist stronghold the Communist mainland could not expect immunity.

Sole Survivor Of Union Army Leaves Hospital

DULUTH, Minn., March 4 (AP)—Albert Woolson, 108, sole survivor of the Union Army, was released from a Duluth hospital today and returned home fully recovered from a lung congestion.

"I'm feeling fine," he said. "Hospitals are marvelous things to have when you need them," the Civil War veteran told his daughter and her family. "But it's great to be home again."

Woolson didn't lie down when he returned to the house. He said he didn't feel tired. He visited with the family, drank coffee and smoked a cigar.

"Whose Body" Puzzles Judge

NEW YORK, March 4 (AP)—A judge said today the question of whose body is shown with Jane Russell's face in advertisements of the film, "Underwater," is too deep for him, and it will have to go to trial.

He came to this conclusion in a $100,000 damage suit brought by blonde Lyn Jones, a 21-year-old model, claiming the movie-makers, RKO, "superimposed Jane's head on Lyn's body without her consent."

RKO attorney James B. Hayes said four different models were used by an artist in fashioning the body — an arm of one, a leg of another, and so on. The body, Hayes said, is that of "an idealized woman."

Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter, after examining the pictures of Miss Jones, Miss Russell and the ad, said, "well, both of these ladies are very good looking," but he couldn't say what belonged to whom.

Mrs. Dionne III, Undergoes Operation

NORTH BAY, Ont., March 4 (AP)—Mrs. Olivia Dionne, mother of the quintuplets, underwent an operation in a Montreal hospital two weeks ago, her husband said today.

Dionne said the operation was not of a serious nature and that she is recovering nicely. He has talked to her by telephone and she may return home this weekend, he added.

Bill To Check Ike's Power Is Introduced

WASHINGTON, March 4 (AP)—A bill to check the President's power to make certain recess appointments—those between sessions of the Senate—was introduced today by Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.).

It would prohibit salary payments to any federal official appointed between Senate sessions to a post which fell vacant during a Senate session and for which Senate confirmation is required by law.

Collins Believed In Line For Top European Post

WASHINGTON, March 4 (AP)—Gen. J. Lawton Collins was reported today to be in line to succeed Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther as supreme Allied commander in Europe.

The unofficial service publication, the Army-Navy-Air Force Journal, predicted that Gruenther would be brought to the Pentagon in August or perhaps sooner to replace Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway as Army chief of staff.

The plan then would be to send Collins, former Army chief and a combat commander in Europe in World War II, to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization command.

Ridgway is due to retire in August. Collins' current regular job is American representative on the NATO military committee and the standing group, with headquarters in Washington. But he was given still another, temporary job by President Eisenhower several months ago as a "trouble shooter" in Indochina.

Federal Action Begun To Avert Railroad Strike

NEW YORK, March 4 (AP)—The federal government today tried to step in and avert a strike threatened against the Pennsylvania Railroad by the CIO Transport Workers Union.

The railroad immediately accepted the offer of federal mediators to come into the dispute. The union said it would have no reply until tomorrow.

Michael J. Quill, TWU president, set Sunday midnight as the strike deadline for his 20,000 Pennsylvania Railroad members. They are nonoperating maintenance employees of the line.

Quill claims the railroad, in laying off 12,000 workers in an economy wave, has cut maintenance below the point of safety. The railroad denies it and says it has lived up to its contract with the union.

The railroad says that even if there is a strike, trains will keep rolling providing other railroad union members stay on the job. The TWU employs repair and maintain the road's rolling stock. Wages are not an issue in the dispute. The TWU has been campaigning for reinstatement of the laid off men.

The railroad said the layoffs were made because of a "recession wave in business" last year.

The Pennsylvania operates in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Michigan, West Virginia, Virginia, Kentucky and the District of Columbia. Financially, the Pennsylvania is the biggest railroad in the country.

President Urges New Defense Contracts Law

WASHINGTON, March 4 (AP)—President Eisenhower today urged Congress to re-enact the defense contracts renegotiation act "to assure that the United States gets what it needs for defense at fair prices."

The law permitted the government to review military contracts, even long after the goods were delivered, and to recover payments found to be excessive.

The President asked the law be put back on the books until at least Dec. 31, 1956.

Three Brothers And Sister Slain In Bizarre Shooting

MANCHESTER, Ky., March 4 (AP)—Three brothers and their sister, ranging in age from 25 to 39, were shot and killed one by one at their cabin home in mountainous eastern Clay County yesterday.

Each was shot in the face and left dead in grotesque sitting positions. Officers could find no evidence to explain the strange crime.

Reuben Hibbard, 36, a brother-in-law of the victims, and Walter Cupp, 23, were arrested and charged with the slayings, but they refused to discuss the incident.

Chris Smith, 70, returned to his home on Little Goose Creek yesterday and found the bodies of his sons, Leonard, George and Chester and his daughter, Venice, in the gruesome murder scene.

He said one son and the daughter were sitting upright at a kitchen table, where a meal had been prepared but left untouched. The other sons were in a bedroom, one upright on the bed's edge and the other slumped on a bench.

Smith told Sheriff Daniel Davidson there was no sign of a struggle

Market In Turmoil
Senate Group Told;
Buyers Lose Millions

WASHINGTON, March 4 (AP)—A demand for curbs on stock market tipsters arose today after the Senate Banking Committee heard that one tip by Walter Winchell cost buyers more than two million dollars in about an hour.

President Edward T. McCormick of the American Stock Exchange, testified that on another occasion a televised tip by Winchell threw the market into turmoil.

After the commentator's TV program on Jan. 9, McCormick said, an avalanche of orders descended on the exchange for stock in Panapee Oil Co., a Venezuelan firm.

McCormick said that except for special measures taken by the exchange, those who bought on the Winchell tip and held on to the stock would now be in the hole by $8 a share.

The committee had hardly opened the second day of its "friendly" study of stock markets before Sen. Bush (R-Conn.) was calling for steps to "put an end to this irresponsible business of giving out market tips."

Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.), committee chairman, described the tips and the market fluctuations they caused in some cases as "a very serious matter."

"This is one of the biggest headaches I have ever had," agreed McCormick. However, he said the big problem was how to draw a line on market information. He pointed out that nearly all newspapers supply financial news. He said that Winchell gave market tips almost weekly, and added that he didn't know of any instance where Winchell had misstated facts. He declared Winchell had said that substantially the same information he gave about Panapee Oil had been carried in newspapers.

McCormick was today's leadoff witness in an inquiry aimed at analyzing the stock market in the light of a 18-month boom in prices. He said the tipping practice has "a tendency to unbalance the market."

Fulbright asked him whether it wasn't true that investors who bought Amurex Oil shares on a tip broadcast by Winchell in 1953 "lost more than two million dollars in a little more than an hour."

"There's no doubt about it," McCormick replied. He went on to say that the price of the stock rose as the result of a buying wave induced by the newspaper columnist and radio commentator, then dropped below its previous level when the company issued a denial of one of Winchell's statements.

Winchell's office in New York said he had no immediate comment on McCormick's testimony and the senator's remarks.

McCormick testified that no responsible person in the financial community wants investors to acquire stocks at prices above realistic levels.

He told the story of a Sunday night tip by Winchell on a TV program that brought a flood of orders for Panapee Oil on the following morning, Jan. 10.

"It was just simply amazing," McCormick said, adding that there were orders for 357,000 shares. He said it was the greatest demand for a single stock in the history of any exchange.

Russia Exonerates American Writer Accused Of Spying

MOSCOW, March 4 (AP)—Anna Louise Strong, American writer and Soviet sympathizer who was arrested on spy charges and deported from the Soviet Union in 1949, has been exonerated by the new Kremlin regime. The announcement came from the official Tass news agency tonight.

It said the original charges against her had been framed by Lavrenty P. Beria, the Soviet police boss who was executed in 1953 as a traitor.

Her deportation, after more than a quarter century of writing in which she defended and espoused the Communist cause, was a sensation at the time and was never fully explained. Miss Strong herself never explained in detail what her difficulties here were about.

The Tass statement said:

"In February 1949, the American journalist A. L. Strong who was at that time in the U.S.S.R. was arrested by organs of the state security of the U.S.S.R. on suspicion of espionage and sabotage against the Soviet Union and deported from the U.S.S.R."

"As a result of an investigation conducted by the procurators office of the U.S.S.R. it has been established that the former leadership of the Ministry of State Security, Beria, presented the above charges against Madame Strong without grounds. In view of this she is now exonerated of these charges."

Miss Strong, now 69, went to Russia in 1921 for the American Friends Relief Mission and remained to become one of the most prolific and sympathetic of writers on the Soviet scene.

Gov. Paroles Famed Convict

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 5 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin today signed a parole for Jack Hart, Maryland's most famous convict.

He will go free in a few days for the first time since a holdup slaying in 1922—except, of course, for the two times he broke out of the Maryland Penitentiary.

Hart has been a quiet prisoner since 1930, in later years working at the checkout counter in the prison library.

He is 68 now and parole authorities are arranging a job for him at a State institution.

They want him to lead a quiet, secluded life for a year or more. They are afraid, for example, that he won't know how to cope with 1955 traffic and will get run over.

Hart was one of a four-man gang who held up and killed William B. Norris, a contractor, in 1922.

One died in the penitentiary, of natural causes. One was stabbed to death there. The fourth was paroled several years ago.

New Streams Of Lava Hit Abandoned Hawaiian Town

By ROY ESSOYAN

PAHOA, Hawaii, March 4 (AP)—Flaming streams of lava, spouting from new fissures in the earth, rolled through the northern edge of abandoned Kapoho village today and on toward the sea a mile away.

Embers of five houses lay like bleached bones against the black sea of flowing lava when I flew over the village this morning.

Two hundred yards away the main section of town stood untouched on higher ground in sharp contrast to the devastation around it.

It looked as though most of the empty village of 75 homes, rebuilt after it was razed by earthquakes in 1924, might survive this new terror.

A second river of lava poured out of two newly opened half-mile long fissures in this old volcanic area near the eastern tip of the island of Hawaii.

Flaming fountains erupted from the fissures and combined in a molten stream that roared down the slopes half a mile south of Kapoho, pointing away from the town toward the ocean.

One eye-witness, looking at the erupting eastern tip of Hawaii, said, "It looks like the whole place has gone mad."

New fissures burst open in explosions of the earth early this morning.

"It just blew up," said Curtis K. Kamai, territorial road inspector who watched the outburst with volcanologist George A. MacDonald.

aid and Asst. Police Chief George Martin.

The explosions began 2½ hours after Kapoho, and a 20-square-mile area around it, had been evacuated because the volcanic earth was popping open.

Today from the air the pattern of destruction was stark and simple. It spread four miles from Monday's original eruption five miles east of Pahoa, to beyond Kapoho in the east.

West's opening lead was the king of clubs, and if South had known that he was going to find a 4-1 trump break, he could have maneuvered as follows:

South ruffs a club, leads a trump to dummy, and ruffs the last club. Now a diamond is led toward the board. West cannot afford to go up with the ace, so the queen wins. Dummy then leads out the three remaining trumps, drawing East's, while declarer discards two diamonds. This leaves South with his original four spades and the diamond jack. West must hold four spades to stop the suit, and of course the diamond ace for his fifth card, so he cannot keep a club. East is out of the running. South leads a low diamond to the jack and it is all over—the spade queen is still an entry to dummy's good diamonds.

In the actual play, however, South could scarcely know about the trump break, so he drew two rounds of trumps, then ruffed a club, led a diamond to the queen, and ruffed the last club. Now, however, to get back to dummy safely, he had to use the spade queen, and though he could draw trumps, the squeeze was gone. South discarded a spade and a diamond on dummy's trump leads, and if West had been alert he would have kept only three spades, the diamond ace and a club. But West elected to hold all four of his spades, and when South simply knocked out the diamond ace, West was helpless.

A HOME OF THEIR OWN

From the time they were married Marion and Jim aspired to own their own home, but Jim was a struggling young postal clerk and Marion gave up her job when the babies started to arrive. During the years they clung to their dream even when it seemed an impossibility. They moved from apartment to duplex to rented house and always the unused house plans moved with them.

Marion and Jim were not bitter, for while their material dreams were postponed, others were realized. They raised three bouncing girls and one boy to maturity with a serenity not all parents know. Theirs was a church-going family and their youngsters took to the good way of life like ducks take to water. There were the customary childrens' diseases but no casualties on the spiritual front.

Now Jim and Marion are established in that long awaited home of their own. The children are grown and gone, but they do not feel that fulfillment has come too late. In calm assurance of a job well done they take delight in their reward—a happy, contented life of accomplishment.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

A HOME OF THEIR OWN

From the time they were married Marion and Jim aspired to own their own home, but Jim was a struggling young postal clerk and Marion gave up her job when the babies started to arrive. During the years they clung to their dream even when it seemed an impossibility. They moved from apartment to duplex to rented house and always the unused house plans moved with them.

Marion and Jim were not bitter, for while their material dreams were postponed, others were realized. They raised three bouncing girls and one boy to maturity with a serenity not all parents know. Theirs was a church-going family and their youngsters took to the good way of life like ducks take to water. There were the customary children's diseases but no casualties on the spiritual front.

Now Jim and Marion are established in that long awaited home of their own. The children are grown and gone, but they do not feel that fulfillment has come too late. In calm assurance of a job well done they take delight in their reward—a happy, contented life of accomplishment.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

House Approves Car Inspection Bill, 101-9

Private Garages Would Do Work

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS, March 4 (AP)—Compulsory inspection of autos and trucks once a year gained approval of half of the Maryland Legislature today.

The House of Delegates overwhelmingly passed 101-9 a bill restoring the garage inspections which the State abandoned nearly 20 years ago.

Those pushing the inspection by garages this time are putting faith in close state police supervision to avoid complaints which led the abandonment of the system after 10 years.

There still were voiced doubts about its necessity and efficiency. But a subcommittee which recommended the inspection came back with statistics supporting its practicability as a safety promoter.

Deaths Declined

"One of the most compelling motives for the bill is statistics from other states which are in inspections," reported Del. Lee (D-Montgomery). "They leave no room for doubt."

"There was a sharp, abrupt decline in deaths after the inspections were started."

The system calls for licensing of private garages by the state police. The garages would buy stickers at 20 cents apiece and would be permitted to charge the customer $1.50 for making the inspection.

The inspections would be made during the months of November, December and January starting next year.

The Ways and Means Committee was influenced in recommending garage instead of direct State inspections because of cost and convenience to motorists. It would cost millions for the state to build the inspection stations which therefore would be limited in number.

The House also sent to the Senate bills raising the pay of assessors $200 a year and the fees for censoring movies. It forwarded to the Governor a bill permitting the State Board of Health to order confinement of persons with communicable tuberculosis.

SRC Probe Put Off

The only progress made by controversial bills in the Senate was the second emergence from the Finance Committee of a measure to set up a $50,000 probe of the State Roads Commission.

But when it reached the Senate floor for a showdown, it—like four others likely to stir up debate—was put off until next week.

Sen. Redden (D-Caroline) requested the postponement "in view of the late hour" and the desire of the senators to avoid a lengthy fight on the last working day of the week.

Saving Urged By Natural Gas Storage

Consumers Would Benefit Under Plan

ANNAPOLIS, March 4 (AP)—Savings for consumers and tax benefits for governments were advanced today as arguments for allowing utilities to condemn property for use as underground reservoirs to store natural gas.

The Washington Gas Light Co. was the main pleader before the Senate Judiciary Committee considering the bill by Sens. Northrop (D-Montgomery) and Wheatley (D-Prince Georges).

Howard B. Noyes, senior vice president of the utility, said if it had a storage reservoir last year it could have saved 3½ million dollars on piping natural gas from Charleston, W. Va.

The 25 per cent saving would have been passed on in lower rates to customers, he said. In addition, the county in which the reservoirs might be located would collect more taxes.

Utilities would have the power to condemn only 500 feet below the surface of the land under the proposal.

Sens. North (D-Talbot), Friend (R-Garrett) and Dean (D-Queen Annes) of the committee questioned wisdom of granting the powers while a utility is in the exploration stage.

Another hearing on the bill was scheduled for next Friday.

historical name, read a petition from Cresap Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, urging that the span be called George Washington Crossing.

At this point, Ridgeley delegates urged that alternate proposals be forwarded to officials who will select the name.

The history of the span was presented by Mrs. Albert S. Paye, who urged George Washington Crossing as a name which will attract tourists to the area.

She pointed out a case could be named for naming the span the Thomas S. Post bridge, since the former mayor was instrumental in having the new span built, instead of raising the present Blue Bridge several feet.

To Present Alternates
Mrs. Marguerite Findlay, regent of Cresap Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, indicated the support of the DAR.

The meeting closed with all agreeing all that can be done is for each group to present its recommendations for the name of the span, and that no action was needed in the "fact finding" conference.

Also present were Roland G. Showers, Knobley Mountain Post commander; Mayor William D. Bidinger, for the town of Ridgeley; Michael J. Sirna, president of the Ridgeley Lions Club; Mrs. Arch Hutcheson, Historical Society, and L. Paul Laber, quartermaster of post 1411.

Crews will begin next week to place the deck and sidewalks on the span which is erected on piers arising from the Industrial Dam.

Specifications for the bridge call for the final coat of paint to be a combination of pigments which will produce a blue color.

a certified engineer to direct the county roads program, cut costs in the finance department, employ a full-time county purchasing agent, make a general cut in all county departments and ask the state for additional money for support of Sylvan Retreat and the County Home.

Copies of the Lemmert-Orr letter to Miss Williams were sent to State Senator Robert B. Kimble, Delegate Charles M. See, chairman of the County Delegation, and Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster.

Baltimore GOP Seeks Statewide Campaign Help

Beall Announces Convention Plans

BALTIMORE, March 4 (AP)—Baltimore Republicans set out today to enlist statewide financial support for the impending municipal election campaign.

The Republican City Committee announced it had broadened its plans for next Wednesday night's $50 a plate fund raising dinner to take in party adherents throughout the state.

Committees in all the 23 counties now are selling the tickets. Howard Pyle, former newsman and Republican governor of Arizona and now a principal assistant to President Eisenhower, is the No. 1 speaker for the dinner.

J. Glenn Beall Jr., chairman of the Maryland Federation of Young Republicans, announced meantime the organization's biennial convention will be held in Annapolis May 14.

Beall announced Richard Paul Gilbert of Baltimore will be chairman of arrangements for the affair. Business to come before the convention will include the election of officers and selection of delegates to the National Young Republican convention in Detroit in June.

Next Wednesday night's dinner will launch the Republican campaign for the general election May 3 as well as produce funds for it. Samuel Hopkins, attorney and former member of the House of Delegates, was nominated for mayor in the primaries this week and will challenge Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, the Democrat who is running for a third term.

That Hopkins and the party face a big job was indicated by the mayor's landslide victory over six opponents in the Democratic primary. D'Alesandro got more votes than all the others combined.

The vote for all the Democratic candidates was 151,108, the total for the three Republican hopefuls only 23,400.

Albert Shuger, chairman for the dinner, said all elements of the party throughout the state will be represented "as well as many Democrats."

McKeldin Urges Action On Court Reform Measures

ANNAPOLIS, March 4 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin tried to jog the Maryland Legislature today into speeding up passage of more than half a dozen bills on court reform.

"Of special interest at this moment, because of news stories today, are the proposals to reorganize the traffic court and police courts of Baltimore City under a new system with judges on a full-time basis," said McKeldin.

He referred to charges by two recently deposed traffic court magistrates that politicians, including a former law partner of McKeldin, had tried to influence their decisions in cases they heard.

M. William Adelson, the former law partner, and others mentioned in the accusations of the deposed magistrates—Hugh J. Monaghan II and A. Risley Ensor — denied they had improperly tried to discuss the cases.

W. Va. Senate Passes Bill To Abolish Beer Commission

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 4 (AP)—After the liveliest debate that has stirred the Senate at this session, Republicans joined with anti-administration Democrats today to vote abolition of the State Beer Commission.

The measure was passed 20-12 and sent to the House, where anti-administration sentiment also has been rampant these last two days.

Chairman Jackson (D-Logan) of the Senate Finance Committee said the measure, which would transfer commission functions to the attorney general, was estimated to save $75,000 in enforcement costs.

Specific Performance Suit Is Filed Here

An equity suit asking the court to order specific performance of a contract for sale of property at the corner of South Mechanic and Harrison streets has been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The Mercantile-Safe Deposit and Trust Company of Baltimore, trustee of the estate of Frank M. Wilson, filed the suit against Morris Dantzic, agent for Minnie Dantzic, Rebecca J. Dantzic and Ethyl B. Dantzic, 111 South Centre Street.

The trustee offered the property for sale at public auction December 6. Morris Dantzic bid the property in and then entered into a written agreement to pay $12,000 for the property, according to the bill of complaint. A $1,200 down payment was made and the agreement called for payment of the other $10,800 within 30 days. Since then the defendant has notified the complainant that he does not intend to buy the property. The suit was docketed by the law firm of Gunter and Geppert.

Leo A. Kenney yesterday obtained a beer license from the Allegany County Board of License Commissioners for premises at 95 East Main Street in Frostburg.

Most states in the United States allow a girl to marry at 18 without her parents' consent.

House Approves Car Inspection Bill, 101-9

Private Garages Would Do Work

By GEORGE BOWEN
ANNAPOLIS, March 4 (AP)—Compulsory inspection of autos and trucks once a year gained approval of half of the Maryland Legislature today.

The House of Delegates overwhelmingly passed 101-9 a bill restoring the garage inspections which the State abandoned nearly 20 years ago.

Those pushing the inspection by garages this time are putting faith in close state police supervision to avoid complaints which led the abandonment of the system after 10 years.

There still were voiced doubts about its necessity and efficiency. But a subcommittee which recommended the inspection came back with statistics supporting its practicability as a safety promoter.

Deaths Declined
"One of the most compelling motives for the bill is statistics from other states which have inspections," reported Del. Lee (D-Montgomery). "They leave no room for doubt."

"There was a sharp, abrupt decline in deaths after the inspections were started."

The system calls for licensing of private garages by the state police. The garages would buy stickers at 20 cents apiece and would be permitted to charge the customer $1.50 for making the inspection.

The inspections would be made during the months of November, December and January starting next year.

The Ways and Means Committee was influenced in recommending garage inspection instead of direct State inspections because of cost and convenience to motorists. It would cost millions for the state to build the inspection stations which therefore would be limited in number.

The House also sent to the Senate bills raising the pay of assessors $200 a year and the fees for censoring movies. It forwarded to the Governor a bill permitting the State Board of Health to order confinement of persons with communicable tuberculosis.

SRC Probe Put Off
The only progress made by controversial bills in the Senate was the second emergence from the Finance Committee of a measure to set up a $50,000 probe of the State Roads Commission.

But when it reached the Senate floor for a showdown, it—like four others likely to stir up debate—was put off until next week.

Sen. Redden (D-Caroline) requested the postponement "in view of the late hour" and the desire of the senators to avoid a lengthy fight on the last working day of the week.

Saving Urged By Natural Gas Storage

Consumers Would Benefit Under Plan

ANNAPOLIS, March 4 (AP)—Savings for consumers and tax benefits for governments were advanced today as arguments for allowing utilities to condemn property for use as underground reservoirs to store natural gas.

The Washington Gas Light Co. was the main pleader before the Senate Judiciary Committee considering the bill by Sens. Northrop (D-Montgomery) and Wheatley (D-Prince Georges).

Howard B. Noyes, senior vice president of the utility, said if it had a storage reservoir last year it could have saved 3½ million dollars on piping natural gas from Charleston, W. Va.

The 25 per cent saving would have been passed on in lower rates to customers, he said. In addition, the county in which the reservoirs might be located would collect more taxes.

Utilities would have the power to condemn only 500 feet below the surface of the land under the proposal.

Sens. North (D-Talbot), Friend (R-Garrett) and Dean (D-Queen Annes) of the committee questioned wisdom of granting the powers while a utility is in the exploration stage.

Another hearing on the bill was scheduled for next Friday.

Three Names

historical name, read a petition from Cresap Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, urging that the span be called George Washington Crossing.

At this point, Ridgeley delegates urged that alternate proposals be forwarded to officials who will select the name.

The history of the span was presented by Mrs. Albert S. Payne, who urged George Washington Crossing as a name which will attract tourists to the area.

She pointed out a case could be named for naming the span the Thomas S. Post bridge, since the former mayor was instrumental in having the new span built, instead of raising the present Blue Bridge several feet.

To Present Alternates
Mrs. Marguerite Findlay, regent of Cresap Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, indicated the support of the DAR.

The meeting closed with all agreeing all that can be done is for each group to present its recommendations for the name of the span, and that no action was needed in the "fact finding" conference.

Also present were Roland G. Showers, Knobley Mountain Post commander; Mayor William D. Bidding, for the town of Ridgeley; Michael J. Sirna, president of the Ridgeley Lions Club; Mrs. Arch Hutcheson, Historical Society, and L. Paul Laber, quartermaster of post 1411.

Crews will begin next week to place the deck and sidewalks on the span which is erected on piers arising from the Industrial Dam.

Specifications for the bridge call for the final coat of paint to be a combination of pigments which will produce a blue color.

Baltimore GOP Seeks Statewide Campaign Help

Beall Announces Convention Plans

BALTIMORE, March 4 (AP)—Baltimore Republicans set out today to enlist statewide financial support for the impending municipal election campaign.

The Republican City Committee announced it had broadened its plans for next Wednesday night's $50 a plate fund raising dinner to take in party adherents throughout the state.

Committees in all the 23 counties now are selling the tickets.

Howard Pyle, former newsman and Republican governor of Arizona and now a principal assistant to President Eisenhower, is the No. 1 speaker for the dinner.

J. Glenn Beall Jr., chairman of the Maryland Federation of Young Republicans, announced meantime the organization's biennial convention will be held in Annapolis May 14.

Beall announced Richard Paul Gilbert of Baltimore will be chairman of arrangements for the affair. Business to come before the convention will include the election of officers and selection of delegates to the National Young Republican convention in Detroit in June.

Next Wednesday night's dinner will launch the Republican campaign for the general election May 3 as well as produce funds for it.

Samuel Hopkins, attorney and former member of the House of Delegates, was nominated for mayor in the primaries this week and will challenge Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, the Democrat who is running for a third term.

That Hopkins and the party face a big job was indicated by the mayor's landslide victory over six opponents in the Democratic primary. D'Alesandro got more votes than all the others combined.

The vote for all the Democratic candidates was 151,108, the total for the three Republican hopefuls only 23,400.

Albert Shuger, chairman for the dinner, said all elements of the party throughout the state will be represented, "as well as many Democrats."

Wilkinson's Expenditure Resolution Lost

A resolution submitted yesterday by Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson at the meeting of the county commissioners on expenditure of county money was lost for want of a second.

Wilkinson's resolution stated "each member of the board is responsible for the operation of the county's business and the expenditure of the county's money and should at all times have full knowledge of all matters affecting the county."

"Recent purchases have been made for and by the County Roads Department, County Home, and Sylvan Retreat without the knowledge or approval of one of the members of the board."

"The proper method would be to have purchase orders presented to the full board, before any purchases are made, and then the same be approved or rejected.

"Complaints have been received recently concerning other matters affecting the county."

Wilkinson wanted the following resolution adopted.

"That all budget departments in the future present orders to the full board before a purchase is made in order that they may be passed upon."

"That the county advertise for bids for gas and oil to be supplied to its trucks and automobiles for periods of three months at a time."

"That all cars which are under budget by the county commissioners, such as the sheriff's, health department, county home superintendent's and similar agencies in the future be serviced and garaged at the county garage."

"That no member of the board shall issue orders to any department of the county without the full knowledge of the board."

"That the county road engineer be instructed to use for county business, only the car furnished him by the taxpayers."

"That the several pieces of equipment shown to be badly in need of paint and repair, when the county garage was inspected on January 30, be immediately put into proper working condition."

"That, in order to avoid renting needed equipment and to cut down the cost of the operation of the road department, all county equipment be utilized in the future."

York Hotel Remodeling Work Is Under Way

Nurses Home Addition Bonds Are Approved

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday approved by a 2-1 vote the request of the board of governors of Memorial Hospital that $150,000 in bonds be issued for the construction of an addition for the hospital's nurses home.

Commissioners William H. Lemmert and James Orr voted to proceed with the issuance of the $150,000 in bonds provided the City of Cumberland issues a similar amount as its part of the $300,000 project.

Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson, who had introduced a resolution last week which called for the county to deny the hospital the financial assistance, voted "No" to the bond issue.

The action by the board followed the reading by John A. Moberly, superintendent of the hospital, of a letter from the board of governors of the hospital which stated their position in connection with the need for a nurse home.

The letter also commented on a proposal by Commissioner Wilkinson to enlarge the County Infirmary.

Two Men Sent To County Jail

Two Allegany County men were sentenced to County Jail Wednesday by Magistrate Morris Baron in Trial Magistrates Court.

Charles W. Pettie, 28, of Frostburg, who pleaded guilty on February 23 to a charge of disorderly conduct, was sentenced to 60 days in jail following psychiatric examination.

Magistrate Baron said the Frostburg man had called a local woman on the telephone and had used obscene language and made improper suggestions to her.

George P. Wolford of Maryland Avenue was sentenced to 30 days in the County Jail in default of a $25 fine on a disturbance of the peace charge.

Authorities said the man had caused considerable damage to the home where he lived during an argument. Magistrate Baron imposed the sentence.

Wilkinson's Expenditure Resolution Lost

A resolution submitted yesterday by Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson at the meeting of the county commissioners on expenditure of county money was lost for want of a second.

Wilkinson's resolution stated "each member of the board is responsible for the operation of the county's business and the expenditure of the county's money and should at all times have full knowledge of all matters affecting the county."

"Recent purchases have been made for and by the County Roads Department, County Home, and Sylvan Retreat without the knowledge or approval of one of the members of the board."

"The proper method would be to have purchase orders presented to the full board, before any purchases are made, and then the same be approved or rejected."

"Complaints have been received recently concerning other matters affecting the county."

Wilkinson wanted the following resolution adopted.

"That all budget departments in the future present orders to the full board before a purchase is made in order that they may be passed upon."

"That the county advertise for bids for gas and oil to be supplied to its trucks and automobiles for periods of three months at a time."

"That all cars which are under budget by the county commissioners, such as the sheriff's, health department, county home superintendent's and similar agencies in the future be serviced and garaged at the county garage."

"That no member of the board shall issue orders to any department of the county without the full knowledge of the board."

"That the county road engineer be instructed to use for county business, only the car furnished him by the taxpayers."

"That the several pieces of equipment shown to be badly in need of paint and repair, when the county garage was inspected on January 30, be immediately put into proper working condition."

"That, in order to avoid renting needed equipment and to cut down the cost of the operation of the road department, all county equipment be utilized in the future."

Increase In Uranium Makes Rosy Picture

Slowly man with his Geiger counter is ferreting out more and more uranium. With the feverish search still going on throughout the world, it becomes apparent that much more of this precious material exists than once was supposed.

One of the more promising sources of uranium to be revealed recently is on Camp Smith, 2,100-acre National Guard reservation on Iron Mountain, near Peekskill, N. Y. There tests have shown surface rock with twice the fissionable uranium found in some profitable Colorado mines. But it is the quality deep under ground that will determine the true promise of the New York discovery.

Since Camp Smith is on public lands the law permits a person to claim minerals found on it. Because of this, a Connecticut man, with 34 claims on the tract, has already expended $25,000 of his own money in his preliminary search there. However, the government will pay 75 per cent of the $11,000 costs of the more conclusive drilling which is now under-way. Cores for laboratory examination will be obtained after boring 150 to 300 feet into the mountain.

Atomic Energy Commission tests were said to have shown surface rock at the scene contains one to four per cent uranium while samples from a 400-foot deep, abandoned iron mine tested 11 per cent uranium. In Colorado, rock with one-half of one per cent uranium is being mined profitably.

The discoverer of the Smith Camp deposits is protected by law, and he finds reassurance of protection from claim-jumpers in the presence of the rattlesnakes and copperheads which are native to the area. He also tells of bullets ricocheting about the rocks on the claims during military exercises on the reservation.

Discoveries of uranium sources are gradually spreading throughout the world. Inevitably the reward for such findings will decrease as they become more commonplace. That is the concern of those hardy souls who are pioneering the field. But for the public, given so many rosy pictures of what uranium can mean in its peaceful uses, the widening supply makes those wonders seem within easier reach.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky
Are You A Statesman?

An old friend, Sam, bumped into me but hard the other night at a wedding. We had not seen each other for years. Sam is a salesman. If you buy it, he sells it. Just now, he is selling television sets, refrigerators, etc., etc., on the installment plan. If you don't have money, buy anyhow. Why should you not have what everybody has? Is that democracy?

So with such a start, I asked Sam, "Is business good?"

"Why should it not be good," Sam asked, always starting an argument. "If the Russians and the Chinese will only scare people, business will be good. As long as we live on a war economy, people will buy. They got the money."

"Sam, you've become a statesman," I said.

"Who isn't?" Sam asked. "Nowadays everybody is a statesman. Also he knows about India and Pakistan, Iran and Iraq, Matsuo and Quemoy; also who got bumped off in Moscow. But nobody tells him why. Everybody knows so much these days, that there ain't no use telling him anything."

"So I say to a customer, how can you live without a television set if you want to live at all? So the customer says, 'Truly, if you sit down in the night time and have a look at television, you don't worry should the hydrogen bomb come. How do you know it won't come?'"

"So I tell the customer, he should buy a big screen television set and he can not only hear the experts but see them with maps and charts and pointers and even monkeys playing on the piano. The monkey playing the piano is a change of pace from the monotony of the news."

"Tell me, Sam," I asked, "does the customer ever ask you what makes an expert an expert?"

"You still ask foolish questions after all these years," Sam replied. "Would a guy be hired by CBS and NBC and the State Department and General Motors, if he didn't know what he was talking about? Also is it good business to spoil the customer's appetite for an expert? So she tells me Hotsiklotz is the biggest authority in the whole world and he and not Dulles should be secretary of state."

"So I say if you buy a television set from me, you can see the great commentator Hotsiklotz every night from Monday to Friday, same time same station, just before you want to go to sleep. His voice is like a phony-baritone. So clear, so beautiful, so wonderful, he stands in front of your face and tells you what Khrushchev said to Malenkov before he gave him the gate. If you buy quick, you can even get in on the next act when Khrushchev clips off Malenkov's head after notifying Hotsiklotz to stand around, something's going to happen soon. Sign here and the credit company will do the rest."

"I should spoil my business by telling the customer that the reason why everybody talks problems is because nobody solves any. The same problems are always around like kibitzers telling us what we should do to Formosa, why France can't keep a government, why Eisenhower likes Black Angus cows better than Republicans, why Nixon is sent travelling so he won't make enemies in Washington."

"Let the customer be a statesman, too. Why not? What harm can it do? So when she talks about Pakistan, it sounds like she is talking about Minnesota. Does it hurt anybody? Is she worse than the real, genuine statesmen who don't know on Thursday what they said on Tuesday?"

"As long as the customers buy, we all live. Is it worse than in the depression when a customer was a novelty? I ask you."

"I'll be seeing you, Sam," I said to close the conversation.

"Maybe you could change your 1937 ice-box for a new model with a freezing compartment and a place for eggs? Because you're a reactionary, do you have to be old-fashioned? Look! For you I will make a special price, but don't tell nobody. I'll give you the relative's price."

"I'll see you soon, Sam," I said as I plowed into a stuffed derma.

Peaceful Co-Existence?

Ike Is Likely To Consent To Run For Second Term

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower really doesn't want to be renominated in 1956. There's nothing artful or deceptive about his reluctance. It is genuine.

For many months, however, his closest friends and the members of his official family and the political leaders of the Republican party have been talking to him about their hopes that he would consent to renomination. They take it for granted that he will finally accede to their wishes.

But the position of Mr. Eisenhower as outlined in his latest press conference is revealing. He was asked how he felt about the view of Republican leaders that he was indispensable to a party victory. The reply by the President was as follows:

Overlooked One Factor

"Did you ever think what a fate civilization would suffer if there was such a thing as an indispensable man? When he went the way of all flesh, what would happen? It would be a calamity, wouldn't it? I don't think we need fear that."

Now Mr. Eisenhower is absolutely logical about it, but he overlooked one important factor — namely, as long as there is an "indispensable man" around, he will be kept in high office. It doesn't always matter, either whether he is in full physical vigor or beyond 65 years of age, as witness the fact that Winston Churchill at 80 is still the most popular and politically the strongest leader the Conservative party in Britain can get at the moment to keep the Labor party out of power.

The words "indispensable man" have a familiar ring to some of us who covered the three-cornered presidential campaign of 1912. It was Woodrow Wilson, the Democratic nominee, who was using the phrase then against Theodore Roosevelt. The latter had served two terms in the Presidency —

one when as vice president he succeeded McKinley in 1901 after the assassination of McKinley, and the other after his own election in 1904. But nevertheless Mr. Roosevelt was being called a "third term" in the 1912 campaign and was being offered as an "indispensable man" by the "progressive" faction of the Republican party as against the regular nominee, President Taft. Here is what Mr. Wilson said about it in his formal speech accepting the Democratic nomination in August 1912: "A presidential campaign may easily degenerate into a mere personal contest and so lose its real dignity and significance. There is no indispensable man. The government will not collapse and go to pieces if any one of the gentlemen who are seeking to be entrusted with its guidance should be left at home. But men are instruments. We are as important as the

Motley Parade Of Witnesses Appears To Testify On Harlan's Nomination

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—A motley parade of witnesses has been marching behind closed doors to deliver some of the weirdest testimony ever heard on Capitol Hill regarding the fitness of a Supreme Court justice. The man they oppose is John Marshall Harlan. But some of their testimony was so bizarre, so unfair, that it boomeranged.

Here is a cross-section of the witness parade, some for, some against Harlan:

Merwin K. Hart, lobbyist for right-wing causes, called on the Senate Judiciary Committee "to reject the nomination of Justice Harlan and not to confirm any nominee who is not known to be in favor of America first."

Radio commentator Fulton Lewis, Jr., speaking for the American Coalition and the "patriotic world" in general, declared stirringly: "We have no interest in politics or religion or anything except where it strikes the basic security of the country, and then we swing into action."

John Buchanan of Pittsburgh, disdaining a crack by North Dakota's Sen. "Wild Bill" Langer that he was "a professional witness," appealed "to John Marshall Butler (Maryland Republican senator) and the other members of this committee to vote for the confirmation of John Marshall Harlan in order that that great name may be continued in American history."

Harry Klinefelter of Baltimore, describing himself as "a Jeffersonian constitutional state-rights Republican," suggested that the country made a terrible mistake when it began printing money. He didn't say much one way or the cause we represent, and in order to be important must really represent a cause."

Represents Great Cause
Mr. Eisenhower can agree with that argument and find himself accepting the nomination of his own party in 1956. For the President today does represent a great cause—the nation's mandate that he find the way to an honorable peace.

Mr. Eisenhower probably is convinced at the moment that, if his party had to turn elsewhere, it could find a good man who would make an effective campaign based on the Republican record. But this is something to which the party leaders cannot turn their minds as long as Dwight Eisenhower doesn't say the fateful words — that he would not accept if nominated.

Those are words which, on the other hand, Mr. Eisenhower is never likely to say. They run counter to his high sense of duty. As a military man, he has been accustomed to receiving assignments not geared to his personal convenience or desire. He has learned to recognize instantly a call to duty. He, to be sure, has achieved eminence as the commander-in-chief of Allied forces in Europe in the biggest war in history and he had made a great record. He needed no more honors.

Gen. Eisenhower made it clear in 1948 and in 1951 that he didn't want a political career. But he succumbed eventually to the argument that it was his duty to serve if the people so desired. And when the people of the country—not just the Republican leaders—say he is needed at the helm in perhaps one of the most dangerous periods in all history, it seems certain that Mr. Eisenhower will put aside his desire for a private life in retirement and continue to serve in the Presidency.

Specialty Of Anesthesia Requires Years Of Training

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

In anesthesiology during the past several decades has kept pace with advances in other fields of medicine. The specialty of anesthesia is so broad and technical, years of training are required.

In many hospitals, the anesthetist visits the patient several hours before the operation for a discussion of the procedure to be used and to answer any questions that arise concerning the anesthetic. This allays the patient's apprehension and makes the job easier for all concerned.

There are many different anesthetics, varying from ether and cyclopropane, which was inhaled, to novocaine or the barbiturates that are injected. The one selected must be safe and pleasant for the patient and, at the same time, convenient for the surgeon. By this we mean that the anesthetic must relax the muscles surrounding the site of the incision, to give the surgeon the maximum help.

There is no perfect anesthetic. Ether can be given without expensive equipment but it is slow acting and irritating and produces nausea on coming to. In addition, it is explosive.

Nitrous oxide (laughing gas) is quick acting but large amounts are needed to bring on deep sleep, which makes it more risky than ether. Ethylene and cyclopropane also work fast and give deep anesthesia but are dangerous to handle because they are explosive.

Pentothal, given into a vein, has the advantage of producing sleep within 10 minutes. But it has the disadvantage of failing to give complete relaxation.

In recent years our anesthetists have been experimenting with combinations. In this way they are able to aid the surgeon in long and complicated operations, by giving him the type of unconsciousness and relaxation he requires for a specific operation. In addition, combinations are safer for oldsters.

other about Harlan, but he seemed to be against him.

13-Cent Progress
Mrs. Ernest W. Howard, representing something called the "Wheel of Progress," complained that her cause wasn't properly publicized by the radios and newspapers, except for a pocket-sized magazine called Jet. "Everybody is buying it every week for 15 cents," she testified.

New Jersey's GOP Sen. Alex Smith, appearing as a witness, not only came out for Harlan but assured everyone that the late Sen. Bob Taft would also have favored Harlan.

Herman Methfessel, ex-district attorney on Staten Island, blamed his defeat on the way Harlan ran the New York State Crime Commission and concluded Harlan was "an unsuitable justice for the court of last resort."

Herman's Grandpa
Throughout the hodgepodge hearings, Idaho's irrepressible Sen. Herman Welker acted as sort of a comic prosecuting attorney, alternately ripping into witnesses and reflecting about his famous grandfather.

"I had a grandfather that was a great preacher down in North Carolina," he boasted, after New York Bar President Edmund Lewis told how Harlan's grandfather had been on the Supreme Court. Welker added coyly that he had never been able to achieve his grandpa's fame.

Later, while Buchanan was appealing to John Marshall Butler to confirm John Marshall Harlan, Welker broke in again: "Well, I had a famous relative."

"What was his name?" asked Buchanan politely.

"Rev. George W. Welker of Greensboro, N. C.," happily responded Welker.

Pure Theater
From the point of view of pure theatrics, the best show was put on by Fulton Lewis' friend, George Racey Jordan, who started off his testimony against Harlan by announcing: "I had never heard of him in my life until he came up for the nomination."

Jordan was suspicious of Harlan's friendly attitude toward the Atlantic Union, whose aim is to unite the democracies against communism. He was skeptical of the other democracies.

Whistling In The Dark

By Brother Barnabas

The other day I asked a man how he managed to keep looking so young at his age. He replied: "I don't feel as young as I look."

There's lotsa people putting on a front like that.

Do you remember way back when men wore celluloid collars and cuffs? In addition, preachers have been known to wear "hypocrites" (God save the mark!) over their shirt front to give an appearance of cleanliness.

Incidentally they saved the wear and tear of many tubbings. But now the laundries do the job in less time.

There are circumstances when simulating is excusable. If, for instance, in the dead of night you are returning home from a date with your girl and have to pass a country graveyard, and in passing you hear spooky noises, you will be pardoned if you whistle.

"On my arm a soft hand rested,
Rested light as ocean foam;
And 'twas from Aunt Dinah's quilting party,
I was seeing Nellie Home."

It will strengthen your morale and will do the ghosts no harm.
Way To Go Balm

One doesn't live long on this planet till he learns that things are not always what they seem. "There is a way which seems right to a man, but its end is the way to death" (Proverb 16:25).

He would be naive indeed if he still believed that the moon is made of green cheese, or that you can eat your cake and have it.

We live in a phantasmic world. Yeast is west Crooked is straight. Big seems little, and little big. You stop to think and your thinker stops. You can swallow a lie if it is sugar-coated. We believe what we like, the rest we junk. If we practiced what we preach we would go balmy.

The newspapers are a barometer of popular interest. If you die the average man gets five inches of allotted space, while the daily weather report gets six.

One paper got out a special edition to announce that a certain big shot had "gone to heaven" at 2 o'clock that afternoon. There was great consternation in heaven, for at 5 o'clock he had not yet arrived.

If you want to be remembered very long, better build a memorial in heaven by sending up the wherewithal to build it. Don't expect your priest or preacher or rabbi to make out your passport to the Better Land. They may get you out of purgatory, but beyond that they have no jurisdiction.

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

The House of Representatives restaurant is over-crowded, complaining a congressman. There's many a restaurant operator would like to know Uncle Sam's secret in running a beanery.

"We think they are broken-down socialistic empires that are absolutely studded with communism," he explained in the closed-door hearing.

He also had a feeling that the Supreme Court wasn't standing up vigorously enough for the Constitution.

"We are very much concerned in the patriotic world," he said, "about this situation on the Supreme Court. We are horribly upset about it."

As for Harlan, Jordan conceded with tongue in cheek: "He may be a very fine person individually, but we listened to a lot of recommendations for Alger Hiss once upon a time."

Klinefelter, the Jeffersonian Republican, had trouble hearing. "I have been here three days in succession, and my batteries ran down," he explained.

After pointing out that "it requires printed money to be socialistic," he got off on another tangent and declared: "I have attended four national conventions, and every time they have nominated the wrong man. They did it in Chicago in 1952. Don't forget that, I was there and saw it stolen from Taft."

"I hope and pray you will not go into politics," deplored Welker.

"I can't hear you," replied Klinefelter, fingering his hearing aid.

Taft's Benign Blessing

Taft's name came up again when Senator Smith, an ex-Princeton professor, noted: "One of the great things in the background of John Harlan's career is his education at the intellectual hub of the universe, to wit, Princeton University. If Bob Taft were here, I am afraid he would challenge me. He was an Eli . . . But I know Bob Taft, if he were here, would have the same view of John's record and ability that I have."

Ex-D. A. Methfessel's testimony about Harlan's handling of the New York Crime Commission was disputed by Judge Joseph Proskauer, who had worked with Harlan on the commission.

At one point Senator Welker got testy and shouted at Proskauer: "Now I will do the examination and you will do the answering."

The elderly attorney replied, just as testily: "I will do the answering, Senator, you may be sure of that."

Apply Proper Antidote

Man's native resiliency enables him to take a lot of "punishment" in his stride. He can hear all about the possibilities of a hydrogen bomb attack and the terrific consequences that follow, until the goose-pimples stand out all over his body, and when it's all over he will go out and ask, "Where's a good place to eat?" A good friend of mine has already planned a gopher hole in his back yard.

There are many other fears that haunt us, of poverty, of creeping age, of death. All of them can be overcome if we apply the proper antidote.

One way is to practice autosuggestion. If anyone asks you how you feel, don't let your jaw drop, but say, "I'm feeling as fit as a fiddle." Your friends will know that you haven't paranoia.

In case of a business recession try optimism. The other day a group of businessmen met, and instead of griping about what's wrong with business, they put the shoe on the other foot and began talking about what's right with business.

One day out of a clear sky there drops a little gremlin that strikes you in the gullet and you wonder whether you had been hit by a fallout from an atomic bomb.

Become A Lively Corpse

You rush to your doctor. He is your best friend next to the undertaker, in succession. You beg of him to give you a little of this and a pinch of that, and a pint of whisky, since life isn't worth living anyhow.

But he will not violate his Hippocratic oath, wherein he swears "That I will exercise my art solely for the cure of my patients, and will give no drug, perform no operation for a criminal purpose, even if solicited, far less suggest it."

In a few days you are a pretty lively corpse.

A certain professor was surprised to receive an invitation to a stag party given by the YXX fraternity in their club house.

Each guest on entering was given a nickname and was known by it throughout the evening. The teacher was called "Sanka." It was Sanka this, and Sanka that, and the party was a whale of a success.

When he reached home he was curious to fathom why they should choose "Sanka" for him. He went to the pantry, took down a can of Sanka coffee and read on the label: "99.9% of the active ingredient of the bean has been removed."

Whistlingly yours,

BROTHER BARNABAS

once fainted, and was carried to a couch in the library. "Take him out!" ordered the current lady of the house. "Only Jays die in that room!"

Increase In Uranium Makes Rosy Picture

Slowly man with his Geiger counter is ferreting out more and more uranium. With the feverish search still going on throughout the world, it becomes apparent that much more of this precious material exists than once was supposed.

One of the more promising sources of uranium to be revealed recently is on Camp Smith, 2,100-acre National Guard reservation on Iron Mountain, near Peekskill, N. Y. There tests have shown surface rock with twice the fissionable uranium found in some profitable Colorado mines. But it is the quality deep under ground that will determine the true promise of the New York discovery.

Since Camp Smith is on public lands the law permits a person to claim minerals found on it. Because of this, a Connecticut man, with 34 claims on the tract, has already expended $25,000 of his own money in his preliminary search there. However, the government will pay 75 per cent of the $11,000 costs of the more conclusive drilling which is now underway. Cores for laboratory examination will be obtained after boring 150 to 300 feet into the mountain.

Atomic Energy Commission tests were said to have shown surface rock at the scene contains one to four per cent uranium while samples from a 400-foot deep, abandoned iron mine tested 11 per cent uranium. In Colorado, rock with one-half of one per cent uranium is being mined profitably.

The discoverer of the Smith Camp deposits is protected by law, and he finds reassurance of protection from claim-jumpers in the presence of the rattlesnakes and copperheads which are native to the area. He also tells of bullets ricocheting about the rocks on the claims during military exercises on the reservation.

Discoveries of uranium sources are gradually spreading throughout the world. Inevitably the reward for such findings will decrease as they become more commonplace. That is the concern of those hardy souls who are pioneering the field. But for the public, given so many rosy pictures of what uranium can mean in its peaceful uses, the widening supply makes those wonders seem within easier reach.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Are You A Statesman?

An old friend, Sam, bumped into me but hard the other night at a wedding. We had not seen each other for years. Sam is a salesman. If you buy it, he sells it. Just now, he is selling television sets, refrigerators, etc., etc., on the installment plan. If you don't have money, buy anyhow. Why should you not have what everybody has? Is that democracy?

So with such a start, I asked Sam, "Is business good?"

"Why should it not be good," Sam asked, always starting an argument. "If the Russians and the Chinese will only scare people, business will be good. As long as we live on a war economy, people will buy. They got the money."

"Sam, you've become a statesman," I said.

"Who isn't?" Sam asked. "Nowadays everybody is a statesman. Also he knows about India and Pakistan. Iran and Iraq, Matsuo and Quemoy; also who got bumped off in Moscow. But nobody tells him why. Everybody knows so much these days, that there ain't no use telling him anything."

"So I say to a customer, how can you live without a television set if you want to live at all? So the customer says, 'Truly, if you sit down in the night time and have a look at television, you don't worry should the hydrogen bomb come. How do you know it won't come?'"

"So I tell the customer, he should buy a big screen television set and he can not only hear the experts but see them with maps and charts and pointers and even monkeys playing on the piano. The monkey playing the piano is a change of pace from the monotony of the news."

"Tell me, Sam," I asked, "does the customer ever ask you what makes an expert an expert?"

"You still ask foolish questions after all these years," Sam replied. "Would a guy be hired by CBS and NBC and the State Department and General Motors, if he didn't know what he was talking about? Also is it good business to tell the customer's appetite for an expert? So she tells me Hotsiklotz is the biggest authority in the whole world and he and not Dulles should be secretary of state."

"So I say if you buy a television set from me, you can see the great commentator Hotsiklotz every night from Monday to Friday, same time same station, just before you want to go to sleep. His voice is like a phorbatic. So clear, so beautiful, so wonderful, he stands in front of your face and tells you what Khrushchev said to Malenkov before he gave him the gate. If you buy quick, you can even get in on the next act when Khrushchev clips off Malenkov's head after notifying Hotsiklotz to stand around, something's going to happen soon. Sign here and the credit company will do the rest."

"I should spoil my business by telling the customer that the reason why everybody talks problems is because nobody solves any. The same problems are always around like kibitzers telling us what we should do to Formosa, why France can't keep a government, why Eisenhower likes Black Angus cows better than Republicans, why Nixon is sent travelling so he won't make enemies in Washington."

"Let the customer be a statesman, too. Why not? What harm can it do? So when she talks about Pakistan, it sounds like she is talking about Minnesota. Does it hurt anybody? Is she worse than the real, genuine statesmen who don't know on Thursday what they said on Tuesday?"

"As long as the customers buy, we all live. Is it worse than in the depression when a customer was a novelty? I ask you."

"I'll be seeing you, Sam," I said to close the conversation.

"Maybe you could change your 1937 ice-box for a new model with a freezing compartment and a place for eggs? Because you're a reactionary, do you have to be old-fashioned? Look! For you I will make a special price, but don't tell nobody. I'll give you the relative's price."

"I'll see you soon, Sam," I said as I plowed into a stuffed derma.

Peaceful Co-Existence?

Ike Is Likely To Consent To Run For Second Term

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower really doesn't want to be renominated in 1956. There's nothing artful or deceptive about his reluctance. It is genuine.

For many months, however, his closest friends and the members of his official family and the political leaders of the Republican party have been talking to him about their hopes that he would consent to renomination. They take it for granted that he will finally accede to their wishes.

But the position of Mr. Eisenhower as outlined in his latest press conference is revealing. He was asked how he felt about the view of Republican leaders that he was indispensable to a party victory. The reply by the President was as follows:

Overlooked One Factor

"Did you ever think what a fate civilization would suffer if there was such a thing as an indispensable man? When he went the way of all flesh, what would happen? It would be a calamity, wouldn't it? I don't think we need fear that."

Now Mr. Eisenhower is absolutely logical about it, but he overlooked one important fact — namely, as long as there is an "indispensable man" around, he will be kept in high office. It doesn't always matter, either whether he is in full physical vigor or beyond 65 years of age, as witness the fact that Winston Churchill at 80 is still the most popular and politically the strongest leader the Conservative party in Britain can get at the moment to keep the Labor party out of power.

The words "indispensable man" have a familiar ring to some of us who covered the three-cornered presidential campaign of 1912. It was Woodrow Wilson, the Democratic nominee, who was using the phrase then against Theodore Roosevelt. The latter had served two terms in the Presidency —

one when as vice president he succeeded McKinley in 1901 after the assassination of McKinley, and the other after his own election in 1904. But nevertheless Mr. Roosevelt was being called a "third term" in the 1912 campaign and was being offered as an "indispensable man" by the "progressive" faction of the Republican party as against the regular nominee, President Taft. Here is what Mr. Wilson said about it in his formal speech accepting the Democratic nomination in August 1912:

"A presidential campaign may easily degenerate into a mere personal contest and so lose its real dignity and significance. There is no indispensable man. The government will not collapse and go to pieces if any one of the gentlemen who are seeking to be entrusted with its guidance should be left at home. But men are instruments. We are as important as the

Specialty Of Anesthesia Requires Years Of Training

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A fantastic operating room scene took place when a choir master was having his appendix removed under a spinal anesthetic. His anesthetist, and one of the assistants, were all members of the patient's choir. Dr. Donald A. Duke-loy says the four kept themselves amused during the operation by singing quartets.

In spinal anesthesia, the body is numb from the diaphragm down but the patient is awake. Some are so comfortable they pass the time dozing or chatting with the anesthetist. The more curious will ask for mirrors to watch the surgeon and the camera lens may take pictures of the procedure.

Whistling In The Dark

By Brother Barnabas

The other day I asked a man how he managed to keep looking so young at his age. He replied: "I don't feel as young as I look."

There's lotsa people putting on a front like that.

Do you remember way back when men wore celluloid collars and cuffs? In addition, preachers have been known to wear "hypocrites" (God save the mark!) over their shirt front to give an appearance of cleanliness.

Incidentally they saved the wear and tear of many tubbings. But now the laundries do the job in less time.

There are circumstances when simulating is excusable. If, for instance, in the dead of night you are returning home from a date with your girl and have to pass a country graveyard, and in passing you hear spooky noises, you will be pardoned if you whistle.

"On my arm a soft hand rested,
Rested light as ocean foam;
And 'twas from Aunt Dinah's quilting party,
I was seeing Nellie Home."

It will strengthen your morale and will do the ghosts no harm.
Way To Go Balm

One doesn't live long on this planet till he learns that things are not always what they seem. "There is a way which seems right to a man, but its end is the way to death" (Proverb 16:25).

He would be naive indeed if he still believed that the moon is made of green cheese, or that you can eat your cake and have it.

We live in a phantasmic world. Yeast is leest. Crooked is straight. Big seems little, and little big. You stop to think and your thinker stops. You can swallow a lie if it is sugar-coated. We believe what we like, the rest we junk. If we practiced what we preach we would go balmy.

The newspapers are a barometer of popular interest. If you die the average man gets five inches of allotted space, while the daily weather report gets six.

One paper got out a special edition to announce that a certain big shot had "gone to heaven" at 2 o'clock that afternoon. There was great consternation in heaven, for at 5 o'clock he had not yet arrived.

If you want to be remembered very long, better build a memorial in heaven by sending up the wherewithal to build it. Don't expect your priest or preacher or rabbi to make out your passport to the Better Land. They may get you out of purgatory, but beyond that they have no jurisdiction.

Apply Proper Antidote

Man's native resilience enables him to take a lot of "punishment" in his stride. He can hear all about the possibilities of a hydrogen bomb attack and the terrific consequences that follow, until the goose-pimples stand all over his body, and when it's all over he will go out and ask, "Where's a good place to eat?" A good friend of mine has already planned a gopher hole in his back yard.

There are many other fears that haunt us, of poverty, of creeping age, of death. All of them can be overcome if we apply the proper antidote.

One way is to practice autosuggestion. If anyone asks you how you feel, don't let your jaw drop, but say, "I'm feeling as fat as a fiddle." Your friends will know that you haven't paranoia.

In case of a business recession try optimism. The other day a group of businessmen met, and instead of griping about what's wrong with business, they put the shoe on the other foot and began talking about what's right with business.

One day out of a clear sky there drops a little gremlin that strikes you in the gut and you wonder whether you had been hit by a fallout from an atomic bomb.

Become A Lively Corpse

You rush to your doctor. He is your best friend next to the undertaker, in succession. You beg of him to give you a little of this and a pinch of that, and a pint of whisky, since life isn't worth living anyhow.

But he will not violate his Hippocratic oath, wherein he swears "That I will exercise my art solely for the cure of my patients, and will give no drug, perform no operation for a criminal purpose, even if solicited, far less suggest it."

In a few days you are a pretty lively corpse.

A certain professor was surprised to receive an invitation to a stag party given by the XYX fraternity in their club house.

Each guest on entering was given a nickname and was known by it throughout the evening. The teacher was called "Sanka." It was Sanka this, and Sanka that, and the party was a whale of a success.

When he reached home he was curious to fathom why they should choose "Sanka" for him. He went to the pantry, took down a can of Sanka coffee and read on the label: "99.9% of the active ingredient of the bean has been removed."

Whistlingly yours,
BROTHER BARNABAS

You're Telling Me!

The House of Representatives restaurant is over-crowded, complains a congressman. There's many a restaurant operator would like to know Uncle Sam's secret in running a beanery.

A New Hampshire vine yielded one 67-pound and two 50-pound pumpkins. That's nice but what we want to know is, if laid end to end, how many pies that'd add up to?

AHS Trips LaSalle, 66-62, City Race Ends In Triple Tie

Packed House Sees Campers Cop Thriller

Harris Takes High Score Honors With 22 For Explorers

Allegany High School's Campers upended the favored LaSalle Explorers last night, creating the first triple-deadlock in Cumberland scholastic basketball competition.

The final score was 66-62. Nearly 1,100 screaming fans packed the St. Peter and Paul Gymnasium and witnessed a real thriller. The victors got off to an early lead, streaked to a 13-point bulge midway in the second period, and saw the Blue and Gold fight back gamely to knot the score and go ahead in the last half.

Steele Starts Scoring
Hugh Steele, Alco's center, started the scoring procession with a foul shot in the opening minute. Bill Dove then converted two from the charity lane to send the Explorers ahead, 2-1, but their lead was short-lived.

Sophomore Ronnie Bruce sank a long set shot, Steele hooped a jump shot, and the Campers led, 5-2. After Phil Geatz, LaSalle center, dropped in two foul tries, Steele and Rodney Breedlove extended the Alco lead to 9-4.

In the remainder of the opening period the charges of Coach Walter L. Bowers retained their lead, but Geatz's hook at the final buzzer cut the margin to two points at 14-12.

Allegany vaulted ahead on seven consecutive points in the opening minutes of the second stanza and led by nine points, 25-16, when junior center Ronnie Minnick replaced Steele. The Campers gained their greatest margin of 13 points at 31-18 when LaSalle suddenly caught fire and drove within two points, 33-31, sparked by two long sets by "Lefty" Bill Roberts. As the buzzer ending the first half sounded, Allegany's Allen Haines converted one of two foul attempts, and the teams left the court with the Blue and White ahead, 34-31.

LaSalle Takes Lead
Roberts was a demon on offense in the third quarter. He sent the host team into the lead, 35-34, on two straight sensational driving layups. Allegany regained the lead, however, and held the top score, 49-46, with only three seconds remaining. Then Roberts grabbed a loose ball and heaved a long one-hander from behind half-court straight through the hoops, bringing a tremendous ovation from the crowd and reducing the Camper's lead to 49-48.

Roberts continued to shine in the fourth quarter, giving the squad of Coach George Geatz the lead, 50-49, for the final time in the first thirty seconds of the period. Rodney Breedlove connected on two foul shots, putting the winners into the lead 51-50, where they remained for the rest of the contest.

50 Personalities Are Called
A grand total of 50 personal fouls was plastered on both teams, Allegany receiving 27 and LaSalle 23. Allegany took ten less shots from the field than the Explorers, but made the same amount, 21, for a .362 average as compared with the losers' .308 mark.

The Explorers lost the game at the foul line, where both teams took 38 shots. The visitors made 24 for a .631 average and the LaSalle squad made 20 for a .522 slate.

Steele and Bruce split 26 points between them for the victors. LaSalle's Rickey Harris, who was a demon on defense and stole the ball several times for full-court drives, tallied 22 points for the game's high-score honors.

Allegany's junior varsity defeated the LaSalle Jayvees, 38-18, in the preliminary game. The teams played at only one basket, for the one hoop was found to be defective before the contest and was not replaced until a few minutes before the main game. Lineups:

Ralph Kiner Likes Playing With Winner

TUCSON, Ariz., March 4 (AP)—Ralph Kiner is finding "terrific added incentive" playing with the Cleveland Indians, champs of the American League.

Kiner, former home run champion of the National League, is playing with a winner for the first time. He likes it.

So far he hasn't had time to win the left field position. If he plays regularly, Manager Al Lopez believes he will hit 40 home runs.

"He should be of great help to us," Lopez added.

Kiner was one of the bright lights of the National League from 1946 until he was traded to the Indians last fall after hitting 22 homers for the Chicago Cubs. Yet the only time his team finished in the first division was in 1948 when the Pittsburgh Pirates wound up in fourth place.

The 195-pound slugger has been in the Cleveland camp only four days, but he's impressed.

"The thing I have noticed more than anything else is that everything is done for a purpose," Kiner explained. "Everyone works toward one thing—winning."

"Not that Pittsburgh and Chicago didn't have a purpose. They did. It is different."

"It is hard to say what the difference will make to my own game. Certainly it will make playing more enjoyable."

"Being with a winner should put you in a much better frame of mind. A better frame of mind should help your play."

"No matter if you hit three home runs in a game and lost it, you don't enjoy it. You can strike out three times in a game but if you win you feel fine."

"With a losing team it is so much harder to find a reason to get yourself to go. Here you know if you do your job you are going to win. That makes a big difference."

Vejar Is Victor

NEW YORK, March 4 (AP)—Energetic young Chico Vejar tonight hustled his way to a split 10-round decision over 32-year-old Billy Graham in a nationally televised bout at Madison Square Garden. Vejar weighed 152, Graham 148½.

Both Turn In 134s In Louisiana Golf

BATON ROUGE, La., March 4 (AP)—Jerry Barber of Los Angeles and Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., played steady sub-par golf in an erratic field today to take a two stroke lead at the midpoint of the fourth annual $12,500 Baton Rouge Open golf tournament.

Barber had the best round of the day, a five-under-par 67, to add to his first round 67 for a 134 total.

Furgol's 68 was two strokes over his opening 66 but still good enough to tie for the lead as most early leaders soared from their sizzling first rounds.

Walter Romans of Baltimore, first day leader with seven-under-par 65, ballooned 10 strokes to 75 for a 140 total, barely making the top 20 today.

Paul McGuire of Wichita, Kansas, was four strokes over his opening round 66 with 70 today, but took second with his 136 total. Two strokes back of McGuire were Art Wall of Pocahontas, Penn., and Bud Holscher of Apple Valley, Calif., with 138.

Bob Toski of Livingston, N.J., defending Baton Rouge champion, shot a two over par 74 for a 144 total.

West Virginia Tops Generals By 89-74 Score

Victors Reach Finals, Rod Hundley Gets 27

RICHMOND, Va., March 4 (AP)—Rod Hundley thrilled a crowd of 5,000 with his clowning and humiliating Washington and Lee with his shooting tonight as he scored 27 points to give West Virginia an 89-74 triumph and put the Mountaineers into tomorrow night's finals of the Southern Conference basketball tournament.

In the second half of tonight's semifinals, George Washington's favored Colonials battled Richmond's Spiders.

Hundley was superb both with his grandstanding and the manner in which he wrecked the Generals with his fancy passing and his one-handed shots from all spots on the floor. The defeat snapped W.V.'s seven-game victory streak.

Washington and Lee never gained the advantage. Behind the basket-making of Hundley and Pete White, the Mountaineers shot their way into a 21-12 lead after 10 minutes. Near the close of the half, sophomore center Lee Marshall tightened the gap with six points to make it 37-27. Paul Witting quickly connected for three charity tosses and a field goal, and West Virginia was ahead 42-29 at the half.

Shortly after the intermission, Hundley scored three straight West Virginia baskets and it was all over for the Generals. Marshall sank 26 points for W.V. White trailed Hundley, who watched the last five minutes from the bench, in the West Virginia scoring with 20.

Jerry Barber, Marty Furgol Tie For Lead

Both Turn In 134s In Louisiana Golf

BATON ROUGE, La., March 4 (P)—Jerry Barber of Los Angeles and Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., played steady sub-par golf in an erratic field today to take a two stroke lead at the midpoint of the fourth annual $12,500 Baton Rouge Open golf tournament.

Barber had the best round of the day, a five-under-par 67, to add to his first round 67 for a 134 total.

Furgol's 68 was two strokes over his opening 66 but still good enough to tie for the lead as most early leaders soared from their sizzling first rounds.

Walter Romans of Baltimore, first day leader with seven-under-par 65, ballooned 10 strokes to 75 for a 140 total, barely making the top 20 today.

Paul McGuire of Wichita, Kansas, was four strokes over his opening round 66 with 70 today, but took second with his 136 total. Two strokes back of McGuire were Art Wall of Pocahontas, Penn., and Bud Holscher of Apple Valley, Calif., with 138.

Bob Toski of Livingston, N.J., defending Baton Rouge champion, shot a two over par 74 for a 144 total.

West Virginia Tops Generals By 89-74 Score

Victors Reach Finals, Rod Hundley Gets 27

RICHMOND, Va., March 4 (P)—Rod Hundley thrilled a crowd of 5,000 with his clowning and humiliated Washington and Lee with his shooting tonight as he scored 27 points to give West Virginia an 89-74 triumph and put the Mountaineers into tomorrow night's finals of the Southern Conference basketball tournament.

In the second half of tonight's semifinals, George Washington's favored Colonials battled Richmond's Spiders.

Hundley was superb both with his grandstanding and the manner in which he wrecked the Colonials with his fancy passing and his one-handed

Bated Breath, 1-1 Shot, Scores In Gulfstream Opener

Atkinson Cops Third Race On Little Jonesy

Clamor, Best Auber, Freedom Parley Win; Double Pays $169.80

MIAMI, Fla., March 4 (AP)—Tamarack Stable's Bated Breath won the first race on the opening day of Gulfstream Park's 43-day winter season today, paying $34.30 to win.

The 8-year-old mare with Jockey Mike Basile up came boldly down the stretch in the six furlong opener and swept to a neck margin over W. E. Ensor's Amawalk. The winner's time was 1:12 3/5. Third was the favorite, Flying Record.

That the crowd was in a betting mood was reflected in the record set for the daily double pool. It soared to $168,684, eclipsing the former mark of $146,586 a year ago.

A. H. Henson's Pine Ville, with Jack Skelly riding, won the mile and a furlong second, outgaming Deluge by a head in a slashing finish. Quick Imp drubbed nine others for the show. The time was 1:52 2/5. Pine Ville paid $9.50 and formed a $169.80 daily double.

Ted Atkinson Scores

Ted Atkinson, Hialeah's leading rider with 33 winners, came through with his first marker of the new meeting by driving Little Jonesy to a close decision in the third, at six furlongs. Paying $11.60, Little Jonesy saved ground throughout and outfinished Happy Carrier by a neck in the good time of 1:11 3/5. Barney's Joy, a long-shot, was third, with Good Tune winding up fourth in the limit field of older sprinters.

Mrs. Lottie Wolf's Clamor, unsuccessful in six previous starts this winter, displays a fondness for the "seaside" track as he scampered to victory in the fourth, fashioned for 3-year-olds. The gray coat carried Willie Zakor past the judges with an advantage of 3 1/2 lengths, while Sabourin was second and Pavior, the choice, a dull third. Twelve competed. The winner paid $11.70. The race was at 6 1/2 furlongs, out of the chute, first of its kind at the track, and the time of 1:18 3/5 constituted a record.

Clamor's Mark was immediately erased as Leslie Jane Stable's Freedom Parley skipped over the 6 1/2 furlongs in 1:17 1/2 in accounting for the fifth under Johnny Adams. It was the gelding's first triumph of the winter and those who backed him collected $15.20 straight. He outgained easy Paddy and Lotus Easter, the favorite, in a tight finish. Fourth in the field of nine was Cable Jack.

Best Auber Winner

H. G. Brooks' Best Auber, under extreme pressure, captured the sixth event, named for George Jessel, the entertainer. The son of Best Seller was in the pace from the outset but he barely stretched his neck home before the 30 to 1 shot posse. Dairchree was third, while Pot Hunter finished fourth. Best Auber, first winning favorite of the day, was ridden by Ken Godkins and turned the mile and a sixteenth in 1:44 4/5. He paid $5.70 straight.

Beau Jack Is Refused License In New York

NEW YORK, March 4 (AP)—Chairman Julius Helfand of the New York State Athletic Commission said today the commission had turned down a request by Beau Jack, former lightweight champion, for a renewal of his license as a boxer.

Jack, who won a 10-round decision over Eddy Green in a "comeback" bout at Columbia, S.C., Jan. 21, applied for a New York license Feb. 28. Helfand said the application had been denied on the basis of Jack's record, physical condition, age, long years of inactivity and also because of a letter from his manager, Chick Wergles, which said he had retired the boxer for his own protection.

Coaches' Stepping Stone

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Dan Devine, new football coach at Arizona State (Tempe), is the fourth Michigan State backfield coach in five years to move up to a head coaching job elsewhere. The others were Forest Evashevski, Red Dawson and Steve Sebo.

Cheerleader's Mother Dies At Ball Game

PARSONS — The excitement of the sectional basketball tournament Thursday at Parsons High School proved fatal to one of the spectators, Mrs. Ruth M. Hovatter, 37-year-old wife of Orville "Jack" Hovatter, Parsons.

Mrs. Hovatter, mother of Gary Hovatter, senior student and head cheerleader for Parsons High, fainted approximately four minutes before the end of the regulation game between Parsons and Elkins High Schools. The score was tied six times in the final quarter, and Parsons High won the Section 13-A title by defeating the Elkins junior, 55-51, in overtime. The score was tied 51-51 at the end of the regular game.

Mrs. Hovatter was taken to Tucker County Hospital in Parsons in the Volunteer Fire Company's ambulance. She died at 11:45 p. m. without having regained consciousness. Attaches said her death was due to a cerebral hemorrhage.

Members of her family said Mrs. Hovatter was recuperating from a major operation which she had undergone during the Christmas holidays in Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore.

Barrick said that $4,500 was sent to the National Agency from this county over a ten year period, and that during a five-month period in 1954, Tucker County received approximately $12,000 for disaster relief. This included a tornado in August and the flood in October. Mrs. Crosten reported that in the last year, the local chapter received and handled 88 telegrams and sent 96, she also made 34 home visits and aided 74 service men in emergency relief, as well as 34 health and welfare reports for servicemen.

The local chapter is currently sponsoring a Standard Eighteen-Hour course in First Aid Service in Parsons conducted by Harold F. Dial of Alexandria, Va., as instructor. The class is being held six evenings this week which will entitle the persons attending to receive a First Aid Service Certificate, providing they attend five of the six meetings.

Members of the class enrolled are Clay Heitz of Davis; Cover Jolly of Alpena; Arthur Fansler of Hendricks; Otis Fansler of Hambleton; Clark Auvil, Junior Davis, Dorsey Knight, John Ballantyne and Louis Williams and E. B. Olson of Parsons and all members of the Forestry service.

"In reply to the questions submitted in the delegation's petition, the Board of Education wishes to state that these questions are answered in the minutes of their meetings, and that these minutes along with statements of the board's policies are public property and that interested citizens are invited to read these minutes at the Board of Education office."

"In spite of the present situation in the educational system in West Virginia, the Mineral board welcomes any help or interest which the public shows in the county school program."

The board's statement was approved at Thursday's meeting and signed by Richard E. Romig, president, and J. L. Idleman, secretary. The delegation suggested that the board accept the following statement of "Basic Philosophy" adopted by the Tenure-Ethics Committee as a criteria for determining the responsibilities of the boards of education and members of the teaching profession:

"Boards of education are statutory bodies charged with legal responsibilities and obligations. These responsibilities and obligations arise from the public, and boards are answerable to the public, for the discharge of them. Boards of education cannot avoid, or avoid these duties by indifference, neglect, evasion or dereliction. Boards of education function through employees who by the nature of their employment become charged with these same obligations and responsibilities. Employees in turn cannot avoid, or avoid obligations or responsibilities."

The Mineral board also stated yesterday that C. Harley Dixon resigned as board president following the recent appointment of S. T. McGee as assistant county superintendent, but remains a member of the board. Romig was then appointed president of the board.

W. Va. Cops Get Unusual Letter Of Gratitude

CHARLESTON, March 4 (AP) — Charleston Police Sgt. Ken Hager and Det. Mayford Haynes felt a good deal better about their jobs today.

They received a letter from a man they had picked up for investigation early in January. The officers said the man was intoxicated and, after counseling him, they sent him on his way.

The letter today was addressed to "the two young detectives" who did the questioning. It read:

"I want to thank you for your kind Christian attitude in dealing with me. I admit I was both amazed and shocked at the service given to me to become a Christian and not just a church member."

"If all policemen could possess your wholesome attitude toward others, there's no doubt but what people would soon learn to appreciate and respect officers and their job which has to be done."

PARSONS — The excitement of the sectional basketball tournament Thursday at Parsons High School proved fatal to one of the spectators, Mrs. Ruth M. Hovatter, 37-year-old wife of Orville "Jack" Hovatter, Parsons.

Mrs. Hovatter, mother of Gary Hovatter, senior student and head cheerleader for Parsons High, fainted approximately four minutes before the end of the regulation game between Parsons and Elkins High Schools. The score was tied six times in the final quarter, and Parsons High won the Section 13-A title by defeating the Elkins quint, 55-51, in overtime. The score was tied 51-51 at the end of the regular game.

Born in Rowlesburg, W. Va., she was a daughter of Mrs. Mae (Gaines) Cathell, of Parsons and Florida, and the late Charles Cathell. She held membership in the Auxiliary of the All-Letter Club of Parsons High School and Liberty Rebekah Lodge 95 and the First Baptist Church.

Coach C. Robert Sullivan yesterday said there would be no victory celebration at the school out of respect to Mrs. Hovatter.

This included a tornado in August and the flood in October. Mrs. Crosten reported that in the last year, the local chapter received and handled 88 telegrams and sent 96, she also made 34 home visits and aided 74 service men in emergency relief, as well as 34 health and welfare reports for servicemen.

The local chapter is currently sponsoring a Standard Eighteen-Hour course in First Aid Service in Parsons conducted by Harold F. Dial of Alexandria, Va., as instructor. The class is being held six evenings this week which will entitle the persons attending to receive a First Aid Service Certificate, providing they attend five of the six meetings.

Members of the class enrolled are Clay Heitz of Davis; Cover Jolly of Alpena; Arthur Fansler of Hendricks; Otis Fansler of Hambleton; Clark Auvil, Junior Davis, Dorsey Knight, John Ballantyne and Louis Williams and E. B. Olson of Parsons and all members of the Forestry Service.

John Poling, Leadmine; Junior Hedrick of Montrose; Dan Lawrence of Dry Fork; Asa Pennington and Dale Ault of Davis; Lloyd Mullenax of Hambleton; Jerry Muller of St. George; Vincent Carr of Porterwood; Glen Carr and John W. Hershberger of Hendricks; Dale Barr, Jack Poling, and Doyle Hardy, all bus drivers of Parsons. Earl Corcoran, chief of the Parsons Volunteer Fire Department, with Ona Hovatter and Richard Morgan member of the department also are taking the course.

The petition was submitted by Rodney Baker, teacher at Piedmont High School, who served as chairman of the delegation. The petition stated that members of the Board of Education, teaching personnel and citizens of the county have for many months been aware of the existence of conditions within the county which do not contribute to the establishment and maintenance of good schools.

Baker said that recent events have convinced the delegation, other teachers and school patrons that there are grave dangers of the perpetuation of those things which are contrary to ethical and professional standards.

The board's statement issued yesterday follows:

"The Mineral County Board of Education will welcome a visit from the Tenure-Ethics Committee of the West Virginia Education Association to conduct an investigation of the existing conditions in the county and to submit recommendations to promote the best interest of all those who are concerned with the improvement of education in this county.

"In reply to the questions submitted in the delegation's petition, the Board of Education wishes to state that these questions are answered in the minutes of their meetings, and that these minutes along with statements of the board's policies are public property and that interested citizens are invited to read these minutes at the Board of Education office.

"In spite of the present situation in the educational system in West Virginia, the Mineral board welcomes any help or interest which the public shows in the county school program.

The board's statement was approved at Thursday's meeting and signed by Richard E. Romig, president, and J. L. Idleman, secretary.

The delegation suggested that the board accept the following statement of "Basic Philosophy" adopted by the Tenure-Ethics Committee as a criteria for determining the responsibilities of the boards of education and members of the teaching profession:

"Boards of education are statutory bodies charged with legal responsibilities and obligations. These responsibilities and obligations arise from the public, and the public, for the discharge of them, Boards of education cannot avoid, or avoid these duties by indifference, neglect, evasion or dereliction. Boards of education function through employees who by the nature of their employment become charged with these same obligations and responsibilities. Employees in turn cannot avoid, or avoid obligations or responsibilities.

The Mineral board also stated yesterday that G. Harley Dixon resigned as board president following the recent appointment of S. T. McGee as assistant county superintendent, but remains a member of the board. Romig was then appointed president of the board.

Hyndman Firm Wins National Bonus Award

HYNDMAN — A Hyndman lumber firm, Hyndman Planning Mill, was one of the merit award winners in a national Christmas merchandising contest aimed at the country's 27,000 building supply dealers. The company shared its particular prize-winning division with 11 other lumber dealers across the country.

Announcement of the award was made Friday at the conclusion of judging by the contest sponsors, Douglas Fir Plywood Association of Tacoma, Wash., quality maintenance and control group of the western plywood industry.

Cash awards totaling $2,000 were distributed to 38 lumber dealers in this DFFA contest. The Hyndman Company won its merit award in the bonus division.

The Hyndman firm's prize-winning promotion emphasized advertising in all available media, plans for do-it-yourself Christmas presents, Santa and reindeer cut-outs, nativity scenes and numerous other projects, all built of plywood panels.

W. Va. Cops Get Unusual Letter Of Gratitude

CHARLESTON, March 4 — Charleston Police Sgt. Ken Hager and Det. Mayford Haynes felt a good deal better about their jobs today.

They received a letter from a man they had picked up for investigation early in January. The officers said the man was intoxicated and, after counseling him, they sent him on his way.

The letter today was addressed to "the two young detectives" who did the questioning. It read:

"I want to thank you for your kind Christian attitude in dealing with me. I admit I was both amazed and shocked at the service given to me to become a Christian and not just a church member.

"If all policemen could possess your wholesome attitude toward others, there's no doubt but what people would soon learn to appreciate and respect officers and their job which has to be done."

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Card of Thanks

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to all of our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so kind to us during the illness and following the death of our beloved mother Mrs. Elizabeth C. Mink. We especially wish to thank those who sent Mass and sympathy cards and those who sent floral tributes and donated the use of their automobiles.

Deaths

DAVID BARNES
David Barnes, 87, died yesterday afternoon at the home of a son, Lester Barnes, Artesmas, Pa., with whom he resided.

A farmer, he was born at Chapman's Run, Bedford County, Pa., a son of the late John and Elizabeth Jay Barnes. His wife, Mrs. Frances (Smith) Barnes, preceded him in death.

He was a member of Fairview Christian Church.

Surviving are three other sons, Aquilla, Monessen, Pa.; Watson and Stanley, Artesmas, 16 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

The body will be at the home today at 7 p. m. A funeral service will be held Monday at 11 a. m. in Fairview Christian Church. Rev. Walter M. Twigg, pastor, will officiate and burial will be in the church cemetery.

MRS. J. E. MCFARLAND
Mrs. Ida Mae (Johnson) McFarland, wife of Dr. J. E. McFarland, Baltimore dentist, of 4720 Edmondson Avenue, died Thursday night in University Hospital.

She had been in ill health for some time. She was a member of the Methodist Church. Surviving, besides her husband, who is a native of Westport, and a brother of Frank R. McFarland, Sunset Orchards, Baltimore Pike, is a son, James D. McFarland, Baltimore, and two grandchildren.

A funeral service will be conducted Monday with burial in Baltimore.

JACALYN M. THOMAS
Jacalyn Mae Thomas, three-months-old daughter of George J. and Alice (Bryant) Thomas, 1315 Virginia Avenue, died Thursday night in Memorial Hospital where she had been a patient three weeks.

Born last November 17, she is also survived by two brothers, Herman Andrew and George J. Jr., and a sister, Caroline Marie Thomas, at home.

The body is at the Scarpelli Funeral Home. Burial will take place today at 2 p. m. in Rose Hill Cemetery with Rev. B. F. Hartman, pastor of Fairview Methodist Church, officiating.

HARRY G. HERLINE
Harry Gene Herline, 21-months-old son of Henry Ward Herline Jr. and Norma Fay (Shroyer) Herline, Buffalo Mills, died Thursday night while en route to Memorial Hospital here.

Attaches said the child was dead on arrival at the hospital. Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said death was due to streptococcus pneumonia.

The child was born in Cumberland on June 1, 1953.

JOSEPH E. STRICKLER
WESTERNPORT — A funeral service for Joseph E. Strickler, 75, of 211 Cromer Street, who slashed his throat yesterday morning and died en route to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, will be conducted Monday at 2 p. m. in Piedmont Pentecostal Holiness Church.

Rev. Rex Coffman, pastor, will officiate, assisted by Rev. E. W. Welford, pastor of the Assembly of God Church, Westernport. Interment will be in Philo Cemetery.

The body is at the residence and will be taken to the church at 10 a. m. Monday.

The victim, according to Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, died as a result of a self-inflicted wound. The Westernport man reportedly had been despondent in recent weeks.

Mr. Strickler was followed to the back porch of his home by his wife, Mrs. Della May (Reeves) Strickler. She is said to have seen a razor in her husband's hand and to have struggled to gain possession of it before he drew it across his throat.

A grandson, Victor Strickler, who lives next door, heard the commotion and rushed to aid the fatally injured man. A doctor was summoned and

Second School Building Plan Is Endorsed

Commissions Favor $914,596 Program

A supplemental Allegany County school construction and improvement program totalling $914,596, submitted Tuesday by Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster, was endorsed unanimously yesterday by the Board of County Commissioners.

In explaining the program Tuesday, Webster said $114,596 of the total could be obtained from the state through incentive funds, leaving $800,000 to be paid for by the county.

The past several years the county has been borrowing its school construction funds from the state at about 1.75 per cent interest to be repaid in 15 years.

Several Jobs Involved

Biggest single project is a new eight-to-10 room elementary school, preferably in the Bowman's Addition section, costing $410,000. Another $155,096 would be needed to complete the new Bruce High School at Westernport. Other projects would concern Flintstone, Mt. Savage, Johnson Heights, Oldtown, Valley High School, Cresaptown, Columbia Street, Beall Elementary, Allegany, Mt. Royal, Barton and East Side schools.

Webster discussed the supplemental program, which augments the current $3,500,000 program, with the County Delegation in Annapolis Thursday night.

A letter from the county commissioners was sent to George P. Mahoney, Baltimore contractor, expressing appreciation for the 12,000 pounds of flour and 30,000 pounds of potatoes he donated to Allegany Counties.

The commissioners reported they were distributed to 581 families in Cumberland and 776 families in other sections of the county. Some 1,200 families received one 10-pound bag of flour each. A 17-pound bag of potatoes was given to each of 1,200 families, another 150 families each got a 34-pound bag of potatoes and seven others got 50-pound bags each. The remaining 4,150 pounds were deposited with Associated Charities and the Salvation Army for emergency use.

Appointments Made

Two new appointments were made. Dale T. Mann was hired in the County Roads Department effective March 7, succeeding Archie Smith, who resigned at Little Orleans. Mrs. Alice Engle was appointed a stenographer in the County Health Department, also effective March 7, filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Margaret Rank.

A number of road complaints also were heard. Mr. and Mrs. William Fuller, Homewood Addition, complained about water running off the road into their building on Michigan Avenue. Benny Beal, Jealous Row, Mt. Savage, asked for advice about water running under a stone wall. County Roads Supervisor J. Walker Chapman was instructed to investigate.

Albert Hamilton, Rennie Hamilton, Russell Moomau, Lee Shep and Fred Hartman complained about the need of repairs to Spring Street in McCoole. Chapman was asked to investigate. Morgan Sheetz asked about repairs to the road up McCoole Hill from the end of the old bridge.

Office Damaged, Physician Seeks $6,500 In Suit

A local physician and surgeon whose office was damaged when a water line broke in an office above his own filed a $6,500 damage suit yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Dr. A. J. Mirkin, 115 South Centre Street, through Attorney Clarence Lippel, filed the suit against the Dealer Dental Supply Company of Baltimore.

Dr. Mirkin's office is on the first floor and the office of Dr. Robert K. Poling, dentist, is located on the second floor. Dr. Poling employed the defendant company to install certain new dental equipment.

The work was done negligently, Dr. Mirkin contended, so that a water line broke on the second floor causing a great amount of water to flow into Dr. Mirkin's office damaging the ceiling, walls and floors, furniture, books and other equipment. He was unable to use his office for about six weeks as a result.

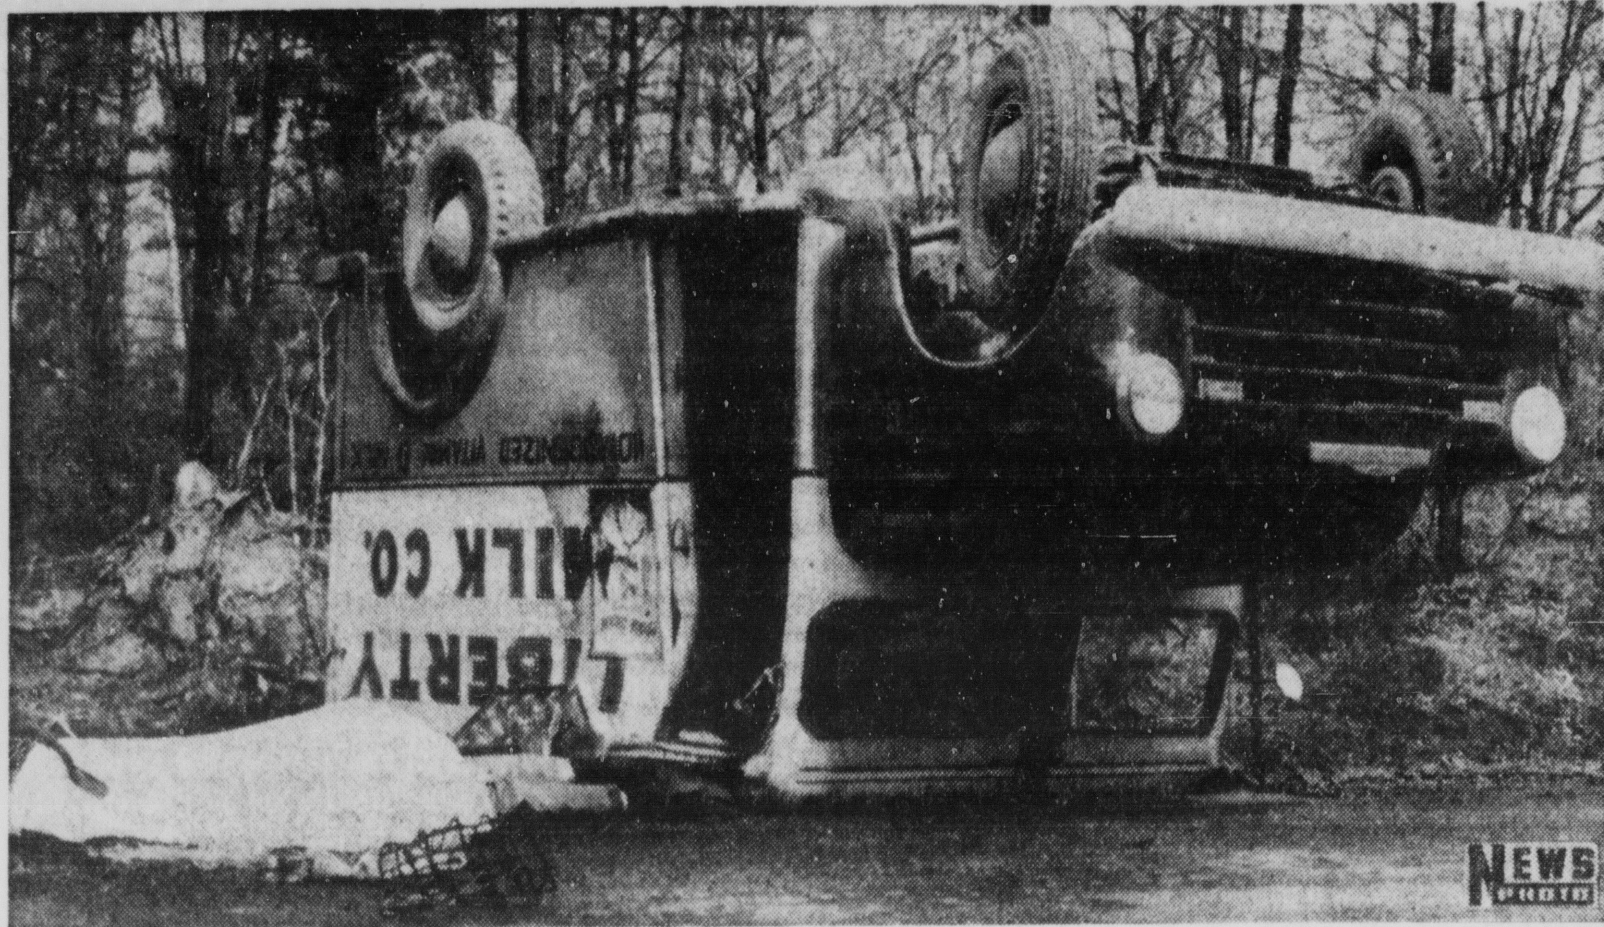

A spokesman for the company said last night that the suit would be contested.

Also filed yesterday was a $10,000 suit by Lloyd Oster, Wiley Ford, W. Va., against Clyde Nelson of Bowman's Addition. Oster was injured last October 17 when the automobile in which he was riding, driven by Nelson, overturned on West Virginia Route 28 near Ridgeley.

Oster contends in his declaration that he suffered a fractured pelvis, injured his neck and back and was hospitalized until December 1. Attorney Edward J. Ryan filed the suit.

Equity Suits Filed

Three equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled James Davis vs. Blanche Davis, Henry Scott Parker vs. Vivian M. Parker and Emily A. Comer vs. Frederick L. Comer.

Scene Of Fatal Accident

The above picture was taken shortly after a Liberty Milk Company truck was hoisted from the body of William Louis Twigg, 51, of 227 Emily Street, driver-salesman for the firm, who was killed instantly early yesterday afternoon when the truck turned over along Death Valley Road just off West Virginia State Route 28, about four miles south of Ridgeley. Twigg was making a milk delivery in that section when the mishap occurred about 12:30 p. m. Police were uncertain how the accident happened.

Three Names Backed For New River Span

Sponsors for three names for the new interstate bridge across the Potomac River here stood firm on their proposals at a meeting held yesterday afternoon in City Hall.

The suggestions included the George Washington Crossing, Shuck Memorial Bridge and Veterans Memorial Bridge.

The recommendations will be presented to the City of Cumberland, the Maryland State Roads Commission and the West Virginia State Road Commission, which will select the name for the span which is to be completed and dedicated here this spring in connection with the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial.

Col. F. Egerton Powell, Bicentennial chairman, presided at the meeting called at the request of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion.

Favor Washington

Russell C. Paupe, adjutant of Fort Cumberland post, explained Post 13 last May received a letter from Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion, suggesting the bridge be named in honor of Sgt. William E. Shuck Jr., who was awarded posthumously the Congressional Medal of Honor.

He said the Cumberland Legion post discussed the plan and questioned whether it should be named for any one person, and a month later wrote to the Ridgeley Legion, requesting a joint meeting.

The post, he said, received no answer until a month ago, when a resolution passed by the Department of West Virginia of the Legion to name the span the Shuck Memorial Bridge was forwarded to the Maryland Department for action.

In the meantime, the post favored suggestions to call the bridge the George Washington Crossing or Washington Crossing, which would be appropriate to the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial.

K. Albert Wolfe, post commander of Knobley Mountain Post, related the post's efforts to have the bridge named the Shuck Memorial Bridge, in honor of the Korean War hero.

Won Highest Honor

Citing the many cities which have named bridges for Washington, he said the span will be a modern one and should be named "for one of our own."

Col. Powell expressed the thought echoed by several present, that Sgt. Shuck has already received the highest honor the country can give.

Supporting the proposal in the name of 3,500 members of the Legion in West Virginia was L. O. Bickel, Fairmont, department commander.

Bickel cited the W. Va. Department resolution and the action of the West Virginia SRC in naming bridges for its war heroes.

Support for War Memorial Bridge or Veterans Memorial Bridge was advocated by Verner J. Winner, commander, for Henry Hart Post 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars. He too said Sgt. Shuck has already received the highest honor in the land and that his organization favors honoring not any one, but all war heroes.

Want Historical Name

Miss Ruth A. Clauson, president of the Allegany County Historical Society, who has promoted the idea, said she would like to see the bridge named for a historical figure.

Also discussed yesterday were plans for novelties and souvenirs to be used to publicize the Bicentennial.

Business aspects of the year-long celebration will be handled by a special corporation, Fort Cumberland Bicentennial, Inc. Incorporation papers have been secured, and the organization will be completed within a few weeks.

Members of the Steering Committee will be directors, and officers of the corporation will be elected from and by the 33-member committee.

Board Of Health Backs Plan To Cut Pollution

Seek Protection Of Public Water Supply

The State Department of Health has assured the Upper Potomac River Board, which is waging a fight to reduce stream pollution through the regulation of strip mining, that the department is interested in any method which will protect the sources of Maryland's public water supplies.

In a letter to Mark W. Roe, chairman of the river board, Dr. Robert H. Riley, director of the State Department of Health, said the board has always been interested in removing pollution from streams, especially those which serve as a source of public water supply.

He said the interest is of long standing, and cited the cooperation of the department in a program of mine sealing operations in the 1930s.

Cites Mine Sealing

This, he said, did not concern strip mining but had the same object to remove acid mine drainage from the streams.

There is reason to believe, he reported, that strip mining operations will increase in the near future, and that it will become more difficult to protect the sources of public water supplies.

At the request of the River Board, a proposed law to regulate the industry was introduced by the Allegany and Garrett county delegations.

Will See Results

It calls for operators to post bond to insure that gashes cut by strip mine operations be filled and water pouring over the abandoned operations leaches out acids and contaminants streams.

The bill is now being considered by a subcommittee of the Agriculture and Natural Resources Committee of the House of Delegates, which will visit Western Maryland Monday to study the effects of strip mining operations.

Del. Estel C. Kelley, this city, chairman of the subcommittee, said the group has been asked to prepare a new bill or amend the existing proposal, to provide effective control.

The Retail Merchants Association of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce this week extended thanks to Commissioner William V. Keegan and the Cumberland Police Department for cooperation during the Christmas season.

Tampering Case Hearing Today

Elwood Addison Swanger, 608 Virginia Avenue, and Charles Edward Swandol, 113 Offutt Street, who allegedly broke into a service station and tampered with a motor vehicle along McMullen Highway near Circle Inn Wednesday night, will be given a hearing today at 10:30 a. m. in Trial Magistrate's Court.

They have been held in City Jail after having been taken into custody by state and city police. Trooper L. C. Clark of the Maryland State Police investigated with City Police Detective Joseph H. Stutcher and Officer Kenneth W. Morrissey. Trooper Clark said the suspects reportedly attempted to strip the car of Raymond Willis, 512 Springdale Street, who is an employee of Ather's Service Station on Route 220. They were accused of breaking into the gas station.

WILLIAM L. TWIGG

Driver Killed Instantly As Truck Upsets

William L. Twigg, 51, Is Crash Victim

A local milk truck driver was killed instantly early yesterday afternoon when the vehicle he was operating turned over on Death Valley Road just off West Virginia State Route 28 about four miles south of Ridgeley.

The victim was identified by authorities as William Louis Twigg, 51, of 227 Emily Street, driver-salesman for the Liberty Milk Company. The mishap occurred about 12:30 p. m. as Twigg was making his delivery of milk.

Authorities last night said the victim had turned off Route 28 and was traveling along the blacktop road when he approached a rise in the highway about two-tenths of a mile from the intersection.

Truck Leaves Road

Cpl. F. H. Tribett and Trooper C. C. Oliver, of the West Virginia State Police, who investigated, both said they were puzzled as to just how Twigg happened to go from the right side of the highway to the left and off the shoulder.

He was thrown partially out of the truck as it turned over, and died as a result of a crushed skull. Authorities surmised that Twigg had been in a sitting position when the accident occurred.

There were no witnesses to the mishap, according to C. J. Phillips, justice of the peace of Ridgeley, acting coroner, who said that just before the accident occurred, friends of Twigg, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Boone, who live in the Death Valley Road section, had waved to him as they passed by.

They reportedly were traveling along the highway toward Route 28. Mr. and Mrs. Boone reportedly were the first persons on the scene and notified West Virginia State Police.

Authorities surmised the front door of the truck was open and if it had been closed the accident possibly would not have been as serious. Phillips examined the steering apparatus of the vehicle and said it was in good working order.

Traveling Slowly

The victim was reported traveling at a slow rate of speed prior to the accident.

A veteran of World War II, Twigg was a native and life-long resident of Cumberland. Born August 2, 1903, he was a son of the late William R. and Elizabeth M. (Twigg) Twigg.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Catherine (Rodeheaver) Twigg, a daughter, Miss Donna Kay Twigg, at home; three brothers, James P. Thornton R., Clayton M. Twigg, etc.

Also surviving are five sisters, Mrs. Adeline Wilson, Mrs. Bertha Crabtree, Mrs. Nettie House, Mrs. Emma M. Smith, this city and Mrs. Cornelia Rice, Hollywood, Md. The body is at Scarpelli's Funeral Home.

Fire Association Will Meet Sunday

The Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association will meet at 2 p. m. Sunday at the Midland Fire Hall, according to David E. Kirk, president.

Baptists Plan Missionary Conference

Program To Open On March 6

The annual World Vision Missionary Conference will be held in four area Baptist churches from March 6 through March 13.

The missionary conference has been planned by Rev. William L. Stroup, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, Cresaptown; Rev. Brooks N. Henry, pastor of First Baptist Church, Eckhart; Rev. Donald A. Vosseler, pastor of English Baptist Church, Frostburg; and Rev. Ivan Mathewson, pastor of Zora, Kirby, Rio Baptist Churches, Augusta, W. Va.

Four missionaries, Harold Key, John Wilson, Gordon Wimer, and Cranmer Kenrick, will conduct simultaneous meetings at each church every night during the week with services beginning at 7:30 p. m.

The missionaries will spend two nights in each church presenting the work of their respective fields. The conference will be conducted as a missionary symposium with movies, film slides, tape recordings of missionary service in the field, and curios being included in the program.

Harold Key is associate director in Mexico for Wycliffe Translators. On April 1 he is leaving his post in Mexico to begin a new work for Wycliffe in the jungle area of Bolivia.

John Wilson has been a missionary for 16 years in India. He has recently returned to the United States and had been engaged in pioneer evangelism in Hyderabad State, Central India.

He will also relate the current events taking place in that part of the world. Gordon Wimer was born of missionary parents in French Equatorial Africa. He was reared in Africa until he came to the United States for advanced education, and is familiar with the changes taking place among the people of that continent.

He will soon return to Africa to be a co-missionary with his parents who at present are in French Equatorial Africa.

Cranmer and Muriel Kenrick have been missionaries in Port-au-Prince, Haiti, for nine years. They have established a Baptist Church in that city and several missionary out-stations in the surrounding area. The Kenricks will be leaving this fall for Haiti.

19,180 County Children Belong To Junior Red Cross

Some 19,180 children, representing 100 per cent of the enrollment in all public and parochial schools in Allegany County as well as the College Laboratory School in Frostburg, are members of the Junior Red Cross, according to Miss Jane E. Botsford.

Miss Botsford, who is one of the elementary school supervisors in the county public school system, is also chairman of the Junior Red Cross in Allegany County. There are 10,880 elementary school children and 8,300 high school students in the program.

A number of projects have been undertaken in the Junior Red Cross program. For instance, some 332 gift boxes were sent to all parts of the world the first of the year. Many "thank you" letters have been received, including one which accompanied some figurines from France.

Commissioners Say They Favor $300 Pay Plan

Wilkinson Endorses $500 For Teachers

The Allegany County Teachers Association yesterday received a majority report from the Board of County Commissioners that two of the commissioners "look with favor" upon the Board of Recommendation that every teacher in the system receive a $300 increase in the coming year beyond the state minimum standards.

William H. Lemmert and James Orr explained their position in a letter to Miss Gertrude A. C. Williams, association president, which she read at the board meeting yesterday.

The third commissioner, Charles N. Wilkinson, issued a minority statement that he favors giving the teachers a $500 boost above the state minimum standards for the coming year, as requested by the Teachers Association.

However, the three commissioners agreed that they could not make any commitments beyond this year. The Board of Education had recommended an additional $100 increase in the 1956-57 school year and the association had asked for $200 a year more for the next five years.

Lemmert, when questioned by Miss Williams, said that if financial conditions in the county improve next year an additional raise might be considered in the budget for 1956-57.

Meeting Today

A meeting of the County Teachers Association has been scheduled for 10 a. m. today in the Allegany High School auditorium to discuss the salary situation.

John D. Kelly, chairman of the public relations committee of the association, who accompanied Miss Williams and Raymond O. McCullough of the association's legislative committee to the meeting, said he would not be surprised if the association voted today to organize into a union.

In their letter to Miss Williams, Lemmert and Orr wrote that a $100 raise for the 621 county teachers and 20 supervisors would cost $64,100. To raise the salary $300 over the scale would cost $182,300 and to raise the salaries $500 over the state scale would cost $320,500.

They observed that under the Board of Education recommended increases 423 of the teachers would get $600 more a year than they now receive, 76 would advance $500, 27 would get $400 more, 72 would receive $300 more than they now get and 23 would be only $200 higher than now.

Teachers are bound to receive increases next year whether or not the county commissioners take any action at all because of a boost in the state minimum standards to $2,800 starting pay and $4,600 maximum.

Lemmert and Orr observe that the Board of Education recommended salary increase would up the county tax rate 8.3 cents in order to pay the staff now employed. Other increases for school needs will include 5.2 cents for school bond payments and 1.86 cents for additional teachers needed to staff new schools. This will result in a combined possible tax rate boost of 15.36 cents per $100 assessed valuation in the fiscal year to start July 1.

Favor Increase

"We believe that county school teachers are entitled to an additional salary increase over and above the proposed state scale for next year," Lemmert and Orr stated in their letter. "We believe that a reasonable tax increase will be acceptable to county taxpayers as evidenced by the public interest in the matter expressed in requests made to us by taxpayers urging the granting of such increases."

The two commissioners said the increases in salary recommended by the Board of Education would move Allegany County up from its present 16th position among the 23 counties to sixth or seventh.

In his statement Wilkinson said: "... I think the proposed $500 increase would put them (the county teachers) in about the proper bracket of pay in which they belong but I do not favor any promise of an increase to them in the future because that would not be fair to the taxpayers."

Acknowledging that the increase would impose additional taxes on the taxpaying citizens, Wilkinson suggests that much additional revenue could be realized through certain recommendations.

He would place greater taxes on public utilities, put the tax collectors on salary rather than the present commission basis, employ

Second School Building Plan Is Endorsed

Commissions Favor $914,596 Program

A supplemental Allegany County school construction and improvement program totalling $914,596, submitted Tuesday by Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster, was endorsed unanimously yesterday by the Board of County Commissioners.

In explaining the program Tuesday, Webster said $114,596 of the total could be obtained from the state through incentive funds, leaving $800,000 to be paid for by the county.

The past several years the county has been borrowing its school construction funds from the state at about 1.75 per cent interest to be repaid in 15 years.

Several Jobs Involved

Biggest single project is a new eight-to-10 room elementary school, preferably in the Bowman's Addition section, costing $410,000. Another $155,096 would be needed to complete the new Bruce High School at Westport, Flintstone, Mt. Savage, Johnson Heights, Oldtown, Valley High School, Cresaptown, Columbia Street, Beall Elementary, Allegany, Mt. Royal, Barton and East Side schools.

Webster discussed the supplemental program, which augments the current $3,500,000 program, with the County Delegation in Annapolis Thursday night.

A letter from the county commissioners was sent to George P. Mahoney, Baltimore contractor, expressing appreciation for the 12,000 pounds of flour and 30,000 pounds of potatoes he donated to Allegany County.

The commissioners reported they were distributed to 581 families in Cumberland and 776 families in other sections of the county. Some 1,200 families received one 10-pound bag of flour each. A 17-pound bag of potatoes was given to each of 1,200 families, another 150 families each got a 34-pound bag of potatoes and seven others got 50-pound bags each. The remaining 4,150 pounds were deposited with Associated Charities and the Salvation Army for emergency use.

Appointments Made

Two new appointments were made. Dale T. Mann was hired in the County Roads Department effective March 7, succeeding Archie Smith, who resigned at Little Orleans. Mrs. Alice Engle was appointed a stenographer in the County Health Department, also effective March 7, filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Margaret Rank.

A number of road complaints also were heard. Mr. and Mrs. William Fuller, Homewood Addition, complained about water running off the road into their building on Michigan Avenue. Benny Beal, Jealous Row, Mt. Savage, asked for advice about water running under a stone wall. County Roads Supervisor J. Walker Chapman was instructed to investigate.

Albert Hamilton, Renix Hamilton, Russell Moorman, Lee Shep and Fred Hartman complained about the need of repairs to Spring Street in McCoole. Chapman was asked to investigate. Morgan Sheets asked about repairs to the road up McCoole Hill from the end of the old bridge.

Office Damaged, Physician Seeks $6,500 In Suit

A local physician and surgeon whose office was damaged when a water line broke in an office above his own filed a $6,500 damage suit yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Dr. A. J. Mirkin, 115 South Centre Street, through Attorney Clarence Lippel, filed the suit against the Dealer Dental Supply Company of Baltimore.

Dr. Mirkin's office is on the first floor and the office of Dr. Robert K. Poling, dentist, is located on the second floor. Dr. Poling employed the defendant company to install certain new dental equipment.

The work was done negligently, Dr. Mirkin contended, so that a water line broke on the second floor causing a great amount of water to flow into Dr. Mirkin's office damaging the ceiling, walls and floors, furniture, books and other equipment. He was unable to use his office for about six weeks as a result.

A spokesman for the company said last night that the suit would be contested.

Also filed yesterday was a $10,000 suit by Lloyd Oster, Wiley Ford, W. Va., against Clyde Nelson of Bowman's Addition. Oster was injured last October 17 when the automobile in which he was riding, driven by Nelson, overturned on West Virginia Route 28 near Ridgeley.

Oster contends in his declaration that he suffered a fractured pelvis, injured his neck and back and was hospitalized until December 1. Attorney Edward J. Ryan filed the suit.

Equity Suits Filed

Three equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled James Davis vs. Blanche Davis, Henry Scott Parker vs. Vivian M. Parker and Emily A. Comer vs. Frederick L. Comer.

Scene Of Fatal Accident

The above picture was taken shortly after a Liberty Milk Company truck was hoisted from the body of William Louis Twigg, 51, of 227 Emily Street, driver-salesman for the firm, who was killed instantly early yesterday afternoon when the truck turned over along Death Valley Road just off West Virginia State Route 28, about four miles south of Ridgeley. Twigg was making a milk delivery in that section when the mishap occurred about 12:30 p. m. Police were uncertain how the accident happened.

Phone Firm Trunk Lines Work Slated

Appropriations in the amount of $590,000 for telephone trunk lines from here to Frostburg and Mt. Savage and from Frostburg to Mt. Savage have been approved by the board of directors of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore.

The two largest expenditures approved were $757,000 for a number of small projects throughout the state for placing cable, poles and wire, and the $590,000 to add additional trunk line facilities on 27 routes between telephone central offices.

In the Baltimore area, $92,000 was authorized to expand the underground and aerial cable system in the southern section of the Curtis area.

During the board of directors' meeting all officers of the company were re-elected.

James B. Morrison was re-elected president and W. Griffin Morel, vice president in charge of all operations in Maryland. Other officers re-elected include Frederick B. Macarow, William J. McManus, Robert C. McGann, Robert W. Michie and Stephen H. Fletcher, vice presidents, and Robert V. Russell, secretary and treasurer.

Lightning Bolts Hit Transformers

A severe electrical storm which hit this area plunged several rural sections into darkness after bolts of lightning struck power transformers.

Potomac Edison Company officials said fuses were blown from transformers which control an area from Death Valley Road to Pattersons Creek and an area near Centerville, Pa.

Both of the bolts struck shortly before 9 p. m. Service was restored shortly after line crews reached the transformers.

Since the sale started Wednesday, February 23, a total of 3,517 sets have been sold. Treat reported the volume is running a little ahead of that for the same date last year. His office is open from 8:30 a. m. until 4 p. m. Monday through Friday and from 8:30 a. m. until noon on Saturdays. The new automobile tags must be displayed by midnight Thursday, March 31.

Mail Cancellation Sought To Publicize Bicentennial

The Fort Cumberland Bicentennial Committee will ask postal officials to authorize publicity for the event through a special cancellation placed on mail dispatched from the Cumberland Post Office. Lewyn C. Davis, steering committee chairman, will contact Thomas F. Conlon, postmaster, for aid in securing the cancellation.

He said it has been suggested that the mail be cancelled "Fort Cumberland Bicentennial 1755-1955" in order to give national publicity to the celebration. Meanwhile, other plans for the Bicentennial progressed yesterday at a meeting of the executive board of the Steering Committee.

The recommendations will be presented to the City of Cumberland, the Maryland State Roads Commission and the West Virginia State Road Commission, which will select the name for the span which is to be completed and dedicated here this spring in connection with the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial.

Col. F. Egerton Powell, Bicentennial chairman, presided at the meeting called at the request of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion.

Favor Washington
Russell C. Paupe, adjutant of Fort Cumberland post, explained Post 13 last May received a letter from Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion, suggesting the bridge be named in honor of Sgt. William E. Shuck Jr., who was awarded posthumously the Congressional Medal of Honor.

He said the Cumberland Legion post discussed the plan and questioned whether it should be named for any one person, and a month later wrote to the Ridgeley Legion, requesting a joint meeting.

The post, he said, received no answer until a month ago, when a resolution passed by the Department of West Virginia of the Legion to name the span the Shuck Memorial Bridge was forwarded to the Maryland Department for action.

In the meanwhile, the post favored suggestions to call the bridge the George Washington Crossing or Washington Crossing, which would be appropriate to the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial.

K. Albert Wolfe, past commander of Knobley Mountain Post, related the post's efforts to have the bridge named the Shuck Memorial Bridge, in honor of the Korean War hero.

Citing the many cities which have named bridges for Washington, he said the span will be a modern one and should be named "for one of our own."

Col. Powell expressed the thought echoed by several present, that Sgt. Shuck has already received the highest honor the country can give.

Supporting the proposal in the name of 3,500 members of the Legion in West Virginia was L. O. Bickel, Fairmont, department commander.

Bickel cited the W. Va. Department resolution and the action of the West Virginia SRC in naming bridges for its war heroes.

Support for War Memorial Bridge or Veterans Memorial Bridge was advocated by Verner J. Winner, commander, for Henry Hart Post 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars. He too said Sgt. Shuck has already received the highest honor in the land and that his organization favors honoring not any one, but all war heroes.

Board Of Health Backs Plan To Cut Pollution

Seek Protection Of Public Water Supply

The State Department of Health has assured the Upper Potomac River Board, which is waging a fight to reduce stream pollution through the regulation of strip mining, that the department is interested in any method which will protect the sources of Maryland's public water supplies.

In a letter to Mark W. Roe, chairman of the river board, Dr. Robert H. Riley, director of the State Department of Health, said the board has always been interested in removing pollution from streams, especially those which serve as a source of public water supply.

He said the interest is of long standing, and cited the cooperation of the department in a program of mine sealing operations in the 1930s.

Cites Mine Sealing
This, he said, did not concern strip mining but had the same object to remove acid mine drainage from the streams.

There is reason to believe, he reported, that strip mining operations will increase in the near future, and that it will become more difficult to protect the sources of public water supplies.

At the request of the River Board, a proposed law to regulate the industry was introduced by the Allegany and Garrett county delegations.

Will See Results

It calls for operators to post bond to insure that gashes cut by strip mine operations be filled and water pouring over the abandoned operations leaches out acids and contaminates streams.

The bill is now being considered by a subcommittee of the Agriculture and Natural Resources Committee of the House of Delegates, which will visit Western Maryland Monday to study the effects of strip mining operations.

Del. Estel C. Kelley, this city, chairman of the subcommittee, said the group has been asked to prepare a new bill or amend the existing proposal, to provide effective control.

WILLIAM L. TWIGG

Driver Killed Instantly As Truck Upsets

William L. Twigg, 51, Is Crash Victim

A local milk truck driver was killed instantly early yesterday afternoon when the vehicle he was operating turned over on Death Valley Road just off West Virginia State Route 28 about four miles south of Ridgeley.

The victim was identified by authorities as William Louis Twigg, 51, of 227 Emily Street, driver-salesman for the Liberty Milk Company. The mishap occurred about 12:30 p. m. as Twigg was making his delivery of milk.

Authorities last night said the victim had turned off Route 28 and was traveling along the blacktop road when he approached a rise in the highway about two-tenths of a mile from the intersection.

Truck Leaves Road

Cpl. F. H. Tribett and Trooper C. C. Oliver, of the West Virginia State Police, who investigated, both said they were puzzled as to just how Twigg happened to go from the right side of the highway to the left and off the shoulder.

He was thrown partially out of the truck as it turned over, and died as a result of a crushed skull. Authorities surmised that Twigg had been in a sitting position when the accident occurred.

There were no witnesses to the mishap, according to C. J. Phillips, justice of the peace of Ridgeley, acting coroner, who said that just before the accident occurred, friends of Twigg, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Boone, who live in the Death Valley Road section, had waved to him as they passed by.

They reportedly were traveling along the highway toward Route 28. Mr. and Mrs. Boone reportedly were the first persons on the scene and notified West Virginia State Police.

Authorities surmised the front door of the truck was open and it had been closed the accident possibly would not have been as serious. Phillips examined the steering apparatus of the vehicle and said it was in good working order.

Traveling Slowly
The victim was reported traveling at a slow rate of speed prior to the accident.

A veteran of World War II, Twigg was a native and life-long resident of Cumberland. Born August 2, 1903, he was a son of the late William R. and Elizabeth M. (Twigg) Twigg.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Catherine (Rodeheaver) Twigg, a daughter, Miss Donna Kay Twigg, at home; three brothers, James P. Thornton R., Clayton M. Twigg, city.

Also surviving are five sisters, Mrs. Adeline Wilson, Mrs. Bertha Crabtree, Mrs. Nettie House, Mrs. Emma M. Smith, city and Mrs. Cornelia Rice, Hollywood, Md.

The body is at Scarpelli's Funeral Home.

Baptists Plan Missionary Conference

Program To Open On March 6

The annual World Vision Missionary Conference will be held in four area Baptist churches from March 6 through March 13.

The missionary conference has been planned by Rev. William L. Stroup, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, Cresaptown; Rev. Brooks N. Henry, pastor of First Baptist Church, Eckhart; Rev. Donald A. Vossler, pastor of English Baptist Church, Frostburg; and Rev. Ivan Mathewson, pastor of Zora, Kirby, Rio Baptist Churches, Augusta, W. Va.

Four missionaries, Harold Key, John Wilson, Gordon Wimer, and Cranmer Kenrick, will conduct simultaneous meetings at each church every night during the week with services beginning at 7:30 p. m.

The missionaries will spend two nights in each church presenting the work of their respective fields. The conference will be conducted as a missionary symposium with movies, film slides, tape recordings of missionary service in the field, and curios being included in the program.

Harold Key is associate director in Mexico for Wycliffe Translators. On April 1 he is leaving his post in Mexico to begin a new work for Wycliffe in the jungle area of Bolivia.

John Wilson has been a missionary for 16 years in India. He has recently returned to the United States and had been engaged in pioneer evangelism in Hyderabad State, Central India.

He will also relate the current events taking place in that part of the world. Gordon Wimer was born of missionary parents in French Equatorial Africa. He was reared in Africa until he came to the United States for advanced education, and is familiar with the changes taking place among the people of that continent.

He will soon return to Africa to be a co-missionary with his parents who at present are in French Equatorial Africa.

Cranmer and Muriel Kenrick have been missionaries in Port-au-Prince, Haiti, for nine years. They have established a Baptist Church in that city and several missionary out-stations in the surrounding area. The Kenricks will be leaving this fall for Haiti.

Commissioners Say They Favor $300 Pay Plan

Wilkinson Endorses $500 For Teachers

The Allegany County Teachers Association yesterday received a majority report from the Board of County Commissioners that two of the commissioners "look with favor" upon the Board of Recommendation that every teacher in the system receive a $300 increase in the coming year beyond the state minimum standards.

William H. Lemmert and James Orr explained their position in a letter to Miss Gertrude A. C. Williams, association president, which she read at the board meeting yesterday.

The third commissioner, Charles N. Wilkinson, issued a minority statement that he favors giving the teachers a $500 boost above the state minimum standards for the coming year, as requested by the Teachers Association.

However, the three commissioners agreed that they could not make any commitments beyond this year. The Board of Education had recommended an additional $100 increase in the 1956-57 school year and the association had asked for $200 a year more for the next five years.

Lemmert, when questioned by Miss Williams, said that if financial conditions in the county improve next year an additional raise might be considered in the budget for 1956-57.

Meeting Today

A meeting of the County Teachers Association has been scheduled for 10 a. m. today in the Allegany High School auditorium to discuss the salary situation.

John D. Kelly, chairman of the public relations committee of the association, who accompanied Miss Williams and Raymond O. McCullough of the association's legislative committee to the meeting, said he would not be surprised if the association voted today to organize into a union.

In their letter to Miss Williams, Lemmert and Orr wrote that a $100 raise for the 621 county teachers and 20 supervisors would cost $64,100. To raise the salary $300 over the scale would cost $182,000 and to raise the salaries $500 over the state scale would cost $320,500.

They observed that under the Board of Education recommended increases 423 of the teachers would get $600 more a year than they now receive, 76 would advance $500, 27 would get $400 more, 72 would receive $300 more than they now get and 23 would be only $200 higher than now.

Teachers are bound to receive increases next year whether or not the county commissioners take any action at all because of a boost in the state minimum standards to $2,800 starting pay and $4,600 maximum.

Lemmert and Orr observe that the Board of Education recommended salary increase would up the county tax rate 8.3 cents in order to pay the staff now employed. Other increases for school needs will include 5.2 cents for school bond payments and 1.86 cents for additional teachers needed to staff new schools. This will result in a combined possible tax rate boost of 15.36 cents per $100 assessed valuation in the fiscal year to start July 1.

Favor Increase

"We believe that county school teachers are entitled to an additional salary increase over and above the proposed state scale for next year," Lemmert and Orr stated in their letter. "We believe that a reasonable tax increase will be acceptable to county taxpayers as evidenced by the public interest in the matter expressed in requests made to us by taxpayers urging the granting of such increases."

The two commissioners said the increases in salary recommended by the Board of Education would move Allegany County up from its present 16th position among the 23 counties to sixth or seventh.

In his statement Wilkinson said: "... I think the proposed $500 increase would put them (the county teachers) in about the proper bracket of pay in which they belong but I do not favor any promise of an increase to them in the future because that would not be fair to the taxpayers."

Acknowledging that the increase would impose additional taxes on the taxpayer citizens, Wilkinson suggests that much additional revenue could be realized through certain recommendations.

He would place greater taxes on public utilities, but the tax collectors on salary rather than the present commission basis, employ
